CONSISTENCY GOAL FOR PAC-10 CHAMPS

ARIZONA STATE

ARIZONA STATE

Receiver Lenzie Jackson

By Joseph Barry Sollenberger

Bruce Snyder, the NCAA Coach of the Year, has made several things perfectly clear since his thrill-a-minute Sun Devils came within seconds of winning the 1996 national championship.

"We don't want to go to the Rose Bowl every 10 years," said Snyder. "Consistency is a proven mark of success, and we haven't proven that yet."

Those remarks came in reference to the fact that ASU's appearance in the '97 Rose Bowl was the school's first post-season game since beating Air Force in the '87 Freedom Bowl.

To list just a few items, Snyder, whose 11-1 squad dropped a heartbreaker to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, wants a program where the Devils attend a bowl each year, contend for the Pac-10 crown, and graduate its seniors.

Last year's run for the Roses was one of the most thrilling in school history. It was no fluke. Just take a look at April's NFL draft, and ASU fans couldn't help but feel proud. Eight Sun Devils were selected. Seven more signed free agent contracts.

Nobody produced more. Nebraska, Miami and A-State all had eight pro picks. The Devils lost a lot of talent, but a lot returns. The program looks solid. It's not perfect, yet. But it looks consistent. The best since 1987.

For the upcoming '97 campaign, the defending Pac-10 champs have switched the dates of three games to avoid playing 11-straight without a break. The Devils now have three bye weeks. And before you can say "Sun Devil," the season will be upon us.

New Mexico State comes to town in late August, when most fans are still at the beach. The date is August 30, so Camp Tontozona, the hideout north of Payson used as a preseason drill factory, opens early. Snyder, his staff and players will board the bus Aug. 12.

Two weeks after the Aggies visit Tempe, the Devils visit Florida, facing national power Miami on Sept. 13. One week later pass-happy BYU comes to town. Arizona State will not make a trip to Los Angeles, visits the Bay Area twice, and plays Washington State for the first time in three years.

Even with the loss of All-American Jake Plummer at quarterback, ASU's offense looks big and fast. Inexperience shows at three positions: quarterback, tight end and right tackle. But athletes are there.

If tailback Michael Martin (6-1, 209) is cleared from a neck injury, he'll join fullback Jeff Paulk (6-1, 245) to give the Devils' a terrific one-two punch. Up front, Kyle Murphy (6-4, 298) might be one of the best at that position in the Pac-10, if not the country. He looks to be a high draft pick.

Sophomore back J.R. Redmond (6-0, 191) will see plenty of action. He (photo insert) returns kicks, catches the ball and throws it. Last year he tossed 16-yard scoring strike to Jake Plummer against UCLA.

Who starts at quarterback, junior Steve Campbell (6-8, 220) or redshirt freshman Ryan Kealy (6-1, 195), is up for grabs. Last season, playing behind Plummer, Campbell threw only 17 passes, completing eight for 76 yards.

Whatever, wide receiver looks to be a strength, with speed and athletic ability big pluses. Lenzie Jackson (#83 photo), Kenny Mitchell, Greig Spann, Ricky Boyer and Tariq McDonald, along with incoming frosh Justin Taplin, the state schoolboy player of the year, help form a deep, solid nucleus, one of the Pac-10's best. Sophomore Kendrick Bates (6-5, 233), a former basketball star, could start at tight end. He'll be pushed by senior Zack Romero (6-4, 230).

"We don't want to go to the Rose Bowl every 10 years. Consistency is a proven mark of success, and we haven't proven that yet."

Junior Grey Ruegamer (6-5, 287) has been switched from right tackle to left, replacing All-American Juan Roque. "I think Grey is one of the best tackles in the country," insists offensive coordinator Dan Cozzetto. "You don't find many linemen who are running downfield, making the extra block."

Junior Troy Davis (6-5, 252) or soph Thomas Schmidt (6-6, 259) will inherit Ruegamer's position on the other side. The coaches are high on left guard Kyle Murphy (6-4, 298), also. "He may be one of the best in the country," says one ASU aide. Murphy played all 103 snaps during a 48-35 double-overtime win over USC. Glen Gable (6-5, 295) and Victor Leyva (6-4, 290) will compete at right guard. Junior Randy Leaphart (6-3, 278) should start at center.

On defense, ASU returns five starters: three in the secondary, one at linebacker and one on the line. Defensive backs Damien Richardson, Jason Simmons and Courtney Jackson all started. The off-season status of safety Mitchell Freedman is uncertain. Linebacker Pat Tillman (5-11, 200) earned All-Pac-10 votes.

Up front, players like Vince Amey, Jeremy Staat, Albrey Battle, Derrick Ford, Hamilton Mee and Quincy Yancy get their chance to start.

Dick Tomey and The 'Cats Bounce Back. Quarterback Kevin Smith page 4A

By Lonnie Collins

It wasn't too long ago that Arizona's "Desert Storm" defense was the talk of the conference. But after last year's season finale, a 56-14 loss to rival Arizona State, the once proud Wildcat defense was left in shambles.

But that was last year. Watch for Dick Tomey and his 'Cats to bounce back. A lot can happen in one year. A lot can happen in the off-season.

No sooner had the dust cleared from a disappointing 5-6 campaign, when Tomey and his staff went to work to put the pieces back together.

On both sides of the ball.

Offensively, sophomore Kevin Smith (photo) returns at quarterback. Like all young starters in a tough conference, he rode a rollercoaster season. Two examples: 502 total yards against California (a 56-55 4OT loss), an NCAA single game total offense record for a freshman, including seven touchdowns. Then, against Rose Bowl bound Arizona State, he was sacked seven times, passed for only 91 yards and rushed for two.

Such is the world of a young Pac-10 quarterback. Still, the UA staff feels Smith (5-11, 202) has the ability, arm and skills to develop into one of the Pac-10's most dangerous threats. On the perimeter, Rodney Williams (6-1, 191), Jeremy McDaniel (6-0, 190) and young Dennis Northcutt 5-11, 160) are top-flight pass receivers. In two years, Williams has caught 71 passes. McDaniel hauled in 31 for 607 yards last season. Tight end Mike Lucky (6-6, 280) gives Smith a big target.

Senior Kevin Schmidtke (5-9, 191), a one-time state player of the year, and sophomores Trung Canidate (5-11, 185) and Leon Callen (5-9, 182) line up at tailback. Callen is battling an injury. Canidate, a former Phoenix Central all-stater, was a state 100-meter sprint champion (10.65) in 1995. Kelvin Eafon (6-1, 190) and Charles Myles (6-0, 241) give the 'Cats a good tandem at fullback.

Last year, the once proud Arizona defense slipped to eighth in the league. In the offseason, Arizona lost defensive coordinator Larry MacDuff to the New York Giants. Former UA assistant Rich Ellerson will replace him.

Good news came in the spring when the NCAA granted all-star defensive tack-le Joe Salave'a (6-4, 280), a second team All-Pac-10 pick, an extra year of play. "This is the best single piece of news we've had," said Tomey. "It's a tribute to Joe for his hard work and academic focus, and a heck of a note for our team. He means everything to this team that a guy like Peyton Manning means to Tennessee."

Salave'a played in the East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl, two NCAA-sanctioned all-star games which did not affect his status under new NCAA rules. One of the team captains in '96, he'll probably be one again in 1997.

Lots of experience returns, including linebacker Jimmy Sprotte (6-2, 237). tackle Daniel Greer (6-2, 265), and ends Steve Tafua (6-3, 280) and Mike Szlauko (6-4, 250). Behind, the 'Cats will be led by middle linebacker Chester Burnett (5-10, 223), the team's leading tackler last year. Safety speed makes him one of the fastest 'backers in the Pac-10. Last year he recorded 124 tackles, best in the conference, recovered two fumbles, caused three, broke up three passes and picked off two - one for a touchdown. Redshirt junior Paul Shields, a former prep star from Paradise Valley, could back up Burnett.

In the secondary, UA returns five former starters: cornerbacks Chris McAlister (6-2, 185) and Kelly Malveaux (5-9, 179), strong safety Rashee Johnson (5-11, 195), and free safeties David Flipp (6-0, 179) and Mikal Smith (5-10, 166). McAlister, a junior to be, was first in the Pac-10 with six interceptions, and returned a kickoff 100 yards for a score against UCLA.

Three All-America Candidates Lead '97 Lumberjacks

By Jeff Krider

It's been an upbeat summer, to say the least. With 17 starters back from an excellent 9-3 club, NAU looks tough.

Coach Steve Axman has three All-America candidates to work with: sophomore quarterback Travis Brown (Phoenix Moon Valley), offensive tackle Dan Finn (Mesa Westwood) and wideout Ricky Pearsell (Flagstaff). "Any coach in the conference would love to build a season around those three," claims one Big Sky head coach.

Last year's young club dropped a 42-31 opening round playoff game to Furman, the school's first such contest in the 1-AA national playoffs. But eight starters are back from one of the most prolific offenses in Big Sky history.

In 1996, the Lumberjacks set or tied 14 national records, leading the nation in scoring and total offense. The defense, which caved in late in the season, looks improved, with nine starters and some talented newcomers.

Throw in All-America punt returner Pearsell (photo insert) and it's easy to see why expectations run high in Flagstaff. In fact, one national publication, The Sporting News, ranks the 'Jacks No. 1 in the nation in Division I-AA.. From sideline to sideline, NAU will field one of the most talented offenses in 1-AA football. Four starters return from an offensive line that sprung Archie Amerson loose for 2,079 yards. Before picking up his diploma, Amerson carried off the Walter Payton Award, given annually to the nation's I-AA Player of the Year.

"It will be hard for us to produce the same numbers," says offensive coordinator Brent Myers. "With the loss of Archie, you take 2,000 yards away. He made us better at a lot of positions."

Despite the loss of Amerson, the 'Jacks appear loaded. Sophomore Travis Brown (photo) was terrific, completing 223 of 411 passes (54%) for 3,398 yards and 23 touchdowns. Only nine passes were intercepted. "Travis now needs to work on detail," claims Myers. "He can play and he knows the system, so now he can really focus on making himself a better all-around player. The kids believe in him. He is a very natural leader and our players have no doubt he will succeed."

Wideouts Gibbons St. Paul and Pearsall were all over the field. St. Paul caught 50 passes for 975 yards and six scores. Pearsall caught 47 for 728 yards and three TDs. And this in an offense with a back rushing for 2,000 yards.

The receiving corps may be the most talented position on the squad. Six receivers with at least 20 catches return. Wideouts Mike Lemo and Dion Black, two of the fastest squad members, also return.

"This is an area in which we are really going to be good," adds Myers. "St. Paul is a big-play guy and Pearsell is a natural leader. Lemos and Black are both poised for the kind of break-through season St. Paul and Pearsell had last year."

Another offensive threat is tight end Ray Flores, another Mesa Westwood product, who caught 23 passes, including a 67-vard touchdown.

On the line, Finn (6-4, 290), left guard David Heasman (6-5, 335), center Ryan Lingenfelder (6-2, 280), and right guard James Martin (6-4, 320) return. Finn was a first team All-American, Lingenfelder was second team all-league, and Martin has been granted an extra hardship year by the NCAA.

Defensively, NAU lost two exceptional players to graduation, tackle Pete Petrucci and end Kevin Kolkman. But tackle Jarrett Loggins (6-3, 281) and end Nick Petrucci (6-3, 240) return. David Couture (6-2, 240) progressed and could replace Kolkman at end.

The outside linebackers are strong, quick and experienced. "It could be one of the team's best positions.," says defensive coordinator Robb Akey.

Damion Davis (5-10, 181), Afa
Faraimo (5-10, 201) and Troy Campbell
(5-10, 181) return to the outside corps.
Young Faraimo (see cover) prepped at Long Beach Poly, the most productive high school ever for the National Football League. Campbell played at Phoenix
Washington. Redshirt freshman Walter Jefferson, a Tucson Amphi product, was the 'Jacks' scout team player of the year.

Lots of experience returns in the secondary, too. Cleveland Dansby, the former South Mountain quarterback, Samaji Akili, Renal Robinson, Cedric Jones, Ryan Hill and Rod Washington all played and figure to improve.

Season Magical Despite Defeat

By Joseph Barry Sollenberger

(The following article appeared in The Michigan Daily, the University of Michigan newspaper, on Jan. 8, 1997.)

The people of this college desert town are in a state of mourning. It's as if their favorite son recently traveled to a far-off war in a far-off country, and they just received notice that he's dead.

Indeed, there is a sense of tremendous disappointment in this city. The Arizona State football team - Tempe's beloved Sun Devils - went off to battle in Pasadena against Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, and did not return victorious. The Buckeyes brought Arizona State's storybook season to an end, 20-17.

How could this have happened? Weren't these Sun Devils, only two years removed from a 3-8 season, destined to erase mighty Ohio State (just as they had mighty Nebraska) to complete their first 12-0 season since 1975?

Wasn't Arizona State destined to win its first national championship ever? The city sure thought so.

When the Sun Devils' brilliant quarterback, Jake "The Snake" Plummer, slithered 11 yards for a touchdown with 1:33 left for a 17-14 lead, the state of Arizona shook from south Phoenix to the Grand Canyon.

But just when it seemed that Arizona State had completed a fourth-quarter comeback for the fourth time this season, a local boy dealt the Sun Devils a crushing blow. Quarterback Joe Germaine, who grew up in nearby Mesa, led the Buckeyes on an improbable 65-yard game-winning touchdown drive in the game's final two minutes.

With 19 seconds left, the Sun Devils didn't have enough time for another comeback.

What made the loss more difficult to stomach were the events that transpired the following night. Third-ranked Florida destroyed top-ranked Florida State in the Sugar Bowl. The Sun Devils could have won the national championship had they survived Ohio State.

In the end, ASU came up 90 seconds short. Ninety seconds short of a Rose Bowl victory. Ninety seconds short of a national championship.

Derrick Rodgers decks Nebraska quarterback Scott Frost for a safety. (Irwin R. Daugherty)

Time heals many wounds. Arizona State's 1996 season will be remembered as a stunning success, not a shocking disappointment. After winning their first two games of the season, the Devils hosted then-No. 1 Nebraska, which had won 26 straight and was gunning for a third straight national championship.

One year earlier in Lincoln, the Cornhuskers annihilated the Devils, 77-28. In an improbable upset, ASU blanked the Cornhuskers 19-0, marking only the second time in Nebraska coach Tom Osborne's 284 games that his team had been shutout.

Afterwards, the Devils jumped from No. 17 to No. 6. They were 3-0 for the first time since 1982. And the college football world took notice. Two more Arizona State victories set up back-to-back matchups with UCLA and Southern Cal.

The Devils came from three touchdowns down to beat UCLA and needed double overtime to dispatch the Men of Troy. Two victories later, the Devils welcomed California to Sun Devil Stadium with a Rose Bowl berth on the line.

With a couple of minutes remaining and A-State leading 35-7, an announcement was made that with the victory, the Devils would represent the Pac-10 in the Rose Bowl.

Bad move.

As delirious fans rushed the field, the officials had two options - to be trampled or race to the locker room. Fortunately, they chose the latter.

Arizona State fans tore down the goal posts with :21 still showing on the clock. The Devils were 10-0 with one regular season game remaining - at rival Arizona. Prior to the season, the Devils had defeated the Wildcats just twice since 1981.

Arizona State vanquished Arizona 56-14, in a game that wasn't that close. A break here and there and A-State could have won 77-7. From there, it was on to Pasadena, and you know the rest.

So, chin up Tempe. You were more than a part of something good. You were a part of something special.

Class 5A a One Horse Race

Just like 1995, when Phoenix St. Mary's was a clear-cut favorite, the '97 campaign is a one horse race. At least on paper.

Mesa Mountain View, the defending state champs, returns a solid nucleus of players, and three all-state candidates in quarterback Tate Gunning, tackle Damien Niko and tight end Todd Heap. Niko and Heap are major college prospects.

Third-year coach Bernie Busken is 24-3-0 with the Toros, an .888 winning percentage, good in any book. In fact, Mountain View's all-time football log, 208 wins, 46 losses 2 ties, is the best winning percentage (.819) among 200-plus high schools which have fielded teams in Arizona's history.

But when it comes to overall wins, that belongs to another Mesa school, the Mesa Jackrabbits. Last year's 8-4 playoff squad pushed the 'Rabbits to 557 wins since 1920. On the gridiron, the Purple & Gold football legions have won 11 state championships and 70% of their games.

5A EAST VALLEY REGION

- 1. Mesa Mountain View (14-0)
- 2. Mesa Red Mountain (6-4)
- 3. Mesa Westwood (3-7)
- 4. Gilbert Highland (9-3)
- 5. Mesa (8-4)
- 6. Mesa Dobson (4-6)
- 7. Gilbert (6-4)
- 7. Yuma Cibola (0-10)

It's easy to see why Mountain View head coach Bernie Busken is excited. He's not alone. Thirty lettermen (11 starters) return from a 14-0 club which stuffed Brophy Prep 17-3 in the 5A finals. The Toros high octane offense starts with quarterback Tate Gunning, a 5-10 signal caller who plays bigger than his size. His 100 for 160 pass completions (63%), 1,796 yards and 22 touchdowns earned him all-state votes. Tight end Todd Heap (6-4, 220) caught 35 passes for 522 yards and 10 TDs. Twoway tackle Damien Niko (6-5, 295), Ryon Seymore (6-2, 260), Nate Bennett (6-2, 240), Evan Hixon (6-2, 210) and Brett Murdock (5-11, 200) give Mountain View the best line in the region, if not the state. Wide receiver Jayton Jadlot (6-1, 185), an excellent all-around athlete, caught less than 10 passes, but averaged 27.3 yards per catch. He also does the Toros' kicking. Jon Sheaffer (6-1, 180) caught 18 passes for 303 yards. Defensively, Heap, Preston Carling (6-0, 215) and Todd Adkins (6-2, 210) help form a solid front, and again, maybe the best in the region.

For Red Mountain, it was "heartbreak hotel." The Lions, 6-4 and out of the playoffs, lost to state champ Mountain View by three points and Mesa in double overtime. Coach Jimmy Jones returns 46 players, 11 from the varsity and 35 from a 7-1 junior team. "We're very upbeat," says Jones, head coach since the school opened in 1988. "We expect a mature group with lots of seniors."

Halfback Robert Dickie (5-7, 170, 4.6), an all-region pick, rushed for 1,200 yards. Big Bryant Berge (6-3, 210) split duties at quarterback and has a good arm.

He also plays in the secondary. Split end Tom Rayburn (5-11, 170) makes a good target. Linemen John Gann (6-0, 190) and Nate Lord (6-0, 220) protect backs like Dickie, Berge, Matt Billingslev and Jeremy Jazwinsky. Add transfer Trevor Gelder (6-1, 220), a fullback/linebacker with good speed, and the offense becomes even more dangerous. But Gelder's contribution may come at linebacker, where he joins Brian Curl, Rvan Owens and Jazwinsky to form a solid defensive wall. The kicking game, important in playoff games, looks in good hands with Erick Kline and Issac Thompson in the lineup. However, it's playoff games which Red Mountain has little experience in.

An uncharacteristic 3-7 record plagued Westwood, but the Warriors should bounce back, with 10 returning starters, including two top-flight tackles: 6-3, 275pound Jake Brinkerhoff, and 6-5, 265pound Travis Scott, back in the fold. The key to Westwood's season resides at guarterback. Who will take charge? The receiving corps is set, with Jason Brown, Ron Hobbs and Marshall Ward at the wideouts. R.J. Navarette is the tight end. Backs Billy Baker and Rob Scoresby are good runners. Aaron Ellertson starts at guard. Rob Castillo is the center. Every player above plays on both sides of the ball.

In Gilbert, Highland is on a roll. The city's newest school has made big waves in two different classes, going 9-3 last year in 5A. Two years earlier the Hawks finished 12-1 in Class 4A. Coach Mike Epperson's club lost twice to state champ Mountain View. The other setback was to Mountain Pointe. This year, veteran linebacker Brian Lindsay (6-0, 195) is the key player: 65 tackles, 55 assists, five sacks, four fumbles, one interception. Running backs Justin Neilson (6-0, 195) and Marcus Hansen (5-10, 200) are tested. Neilson averaged 6.2 yards per carry, gaining 330 yards. Hansen gained 657 yards on 127 carries and scored eight TDs. Josh Stoltz (6-0, 180) should start at quarterback, with competition from Sage Randall (6-0, 170). Sam Jefferies, Chris Krogman and Matt Laningham tip the scales at 230-pounds or more, and give the Hawks a sold front line. When called upon, linebacker Ryan Meraz and cornerback Brian Smith are two-way players.

Graduation all but cleaned out Mesa, but shed no tears for the Jackrabbits. Coach Bill McKane's club will come to play. There are lots of bodies to work with. Especially three-year starter Scott

Fuller (6-2, 230, 4.6), quite possibly the best linebacker in the region. He's the only true starter returning. Tight end DeJowhn Mandley (6-4, 220, 4.7) looks like the next big gun. Senior Myles Dey (6-2, 172) is a possible starter at quarterback. He'll be pushed by Ryan Pace, Trey Warner and Nathan Skinner, all underclassmen. Warner is just a sophomore.

Offensively, Fuller can also play full-back, with Neil Garcia, Tyler Schreiner, Linwood Walker, Glen Smith and Jared Dent ready to run. Slotback Dan Blancarte joins Mandley, Chris Black, David Glover, Chris Alston and Tyro Edwards to give the 'Rabbits a deep receiving corps. Mesa doesn't throw often, but when they do it's usually effective. Edwards is a 6-3, 248-pound tight end, and like most of his teammates, a solid two-way player. Ken Balltrip (6-3, 245) and Chris Henderson (6-6, 295) add beef to the line. Blancarte, Garcia, John Crismon and Sam Siaki join Fuller at line-backer.

"We lost some close games early," says McKane, whose club finished 8-4. "With our backs against the wall, the kids responded by winning six in a row."

Head coach Mike Clark is just one win shy of 100 at Dobson. Since 1981, his Mustangs have gone 99-74-0, winning the 1987 state crown over Mountain View (see Dobson's Wild Horses). "After a 3-7 finish, we should be back on track,' says Clark, 123-89-3 overall in the prep ranks. The loss of all-region linebacker Josh McBurney, who transferred to Tempe, will hurt, but plenty of experienced players return. Last year's offense scored only 190 points. If Clark gets a consistent performance from tailback Darnell Halsey (5-11, 190, 4.6), it could make Dobson tougher. Dan Everlove (6-2, 190) should start at quarterback. Mike Harris (6-3, 260) is another big Mustang center. Justin Castro (6-2, 275) is a twoway starting tackle; Jared Johnson (6-0, 220) a two-way end. Defensively, Nathan Krank (5-10, 170) roams the secondary with Halsey, A'Tori Thomas and Matt Hilliker. All three have good speed.

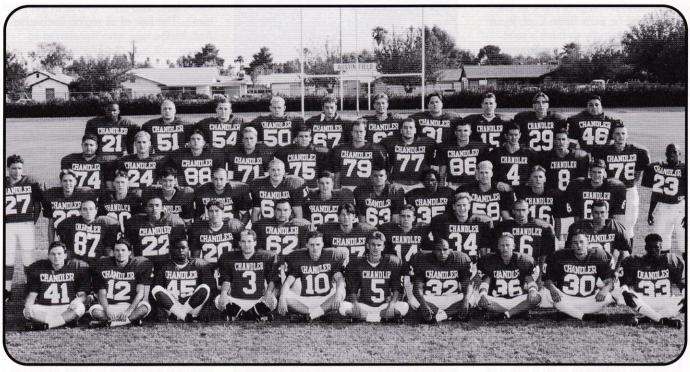

Since Gilbert is back in 5A, the Tigers again have a chance to become the first school in Arizona history to win football crowns in every classification. Last year's club improved to 6-4, its best in eight years. "Doc" Holiday's forces lost to 4A state champ Tempe, 35-34, after being down 35-7 in the third quarter. The coaching staff plans to move all-league guard Brad Payne (6-3, 220) to fullback. He also plays defensive end. Although moving to 5A, tight end Zach Cresap (6-5, 220), linebacker Matt Clonts (6-0, 205) and center Zach Lisi (5-11, 210) are allregion candidates. Fred Clare, Ken Jones and Greg Ethington will battle for the quarterback job. Clare started at linebacker last year. Ryan Chapman (6-5, 230) and Antwon Hazzard (6-5, 250, jr) are big, strong two-way linemen. So is junior Danny Burrell, one of three 230pounders up from the JV unit who could make an impact. Overall, Gilbert is just two wins shy of 398, and is the only school in state history to finish undefeated in its first year of varsity football. The Tigers went 8-0 in 1923.

CHANDLER WOLVES

Saluting the 1996 Class 5A State Semifinalist, and former head coach Jerry Loper.

Chandler High School

*Fred Coates, Asst. Superintendent
*Robert Caccamo, Principal
*John Carlson, Athletic Director
*Jim Sherman, Football Coach

1996 RESULTS:

*Longest state playoff game in Arizona history

It's was a rough season at Chandler, to say the least. Five weeks into the season, popular head coach Jerry Loper was killed in an automobile wreck. Assistants Jim Sherman and Ned Jolly split coaching duties, guiding the Wolves to the 5A semis, where they dropped a heart breaker to Mountain View.

"Our players fought through the loss of Coach Loper and had a fine season," says Sherman. "Losing to the eventual state champion in triple overtime was a real testimony to the kids, coaches and parents."

The staff will build this year's squad around several veteran players, including two all-region picks: tackle Shawn Falk (6-2, 240) and safety Dallas Haught (6-1, 190), who will double as the Wolves' quarterback. Both are excellent two-way players. So is center Tyler Burchett (6-2, 230) and guard Dan Auxier (6-1, 230). Teammates Jason Rowan, Justin Gilbert, John Rothleutner, Bobby Lopez, Reggie Leverette, Joe Critchfield, Nick Lombardo and Troy Flowers are playoff tested. This will be Chandler's last year before an enrollment split with Hamilton High, which plans to open next year.

Without iinxing McClintock, this looks like the best Charger team since 1992 (10-1). Exactly 19 players return, with excellent team speed and improved strength. "We should be a very good hitting team," warns Dennis Johnson, 32-30-0 at the Tempe school. The littlest player is the biggest weapon, 5-8 tailback Johaann Campbell (cover). Last year he netted 1,135 yards and scored 11 TDs. He averaged 24.6 yards on kickoff returns. Teammate Cameron Long (5-8, 155) averaged 34.2. Angel Montemayor (5-10, 160) will move from wideout to quarterback, Linebacker Josh Spratley (6-2. 210) and end Isaac Hawkes (6-2, 220) are defensive standouts. In fact, with seniors Kyle Hughes, Todd Bassett, Greg Hein, Jamie McDowell and Bill Avilla in the lineup, McClintock might have the league's stoutest defense. Randy Tyree and Phil Morgan are speedy two-way players.

It could be another playoff year at Corona del Sol, if the Aztecs stay healthy. Coach Gary Venturo's forces lasted one game into the playoffs, and could be back. Several key players return, including center Matt Hendricks (5-11, 240), wideout Jamel Gaines (5-11, 170) and two-way tackle Marcus Venturo (6-2, 265), the team's punter and just a junior. Two other juniors, Geoff Revling and Aaron Hochuli, vie for the QB position.

Streak Busters

Class 3A state champion Blue Ridge of Lakeside enters the 1997 football campaign with a 39-game winning streak, second longest in state history. The state's all-time leaders, and the schools which beat them:

Patagonia & Pima play 8-man football.

Last year each started three games. Gaines is also a good kick returner, returning 11 for 413 yards. Two-way back Micah Harris (6-3, 175) and guard Chris Silman (6-2, 210) will start. Speed wise, this could be Corona's quickest club in years.

The season gets started early at Mountain Pointe, as the Pride opens Aug. 29 in Pennsylvania, against Wilson High in West Lawn. Coach Karl Kiefer, the state's winningest coach (256-94-3), will face WHS next year in Tempe. Since the Pointe opened in 1992, this will be Kiefer's youngest club. Only 15 players return from last year's 8-5 squad. In fact, tight end/linebacker Kyle Siever (6-2, 200) is the only player who received post season honors. Still, quarterback Austin Griffiths (6-3, 190) managed to score 10 touchdowns. Fullback Marcus Jones (6-2, 205) scored six. Wideout Andy Wolcott (5-11, 170) doubles in the secondary. Up front, the Pride needs solid production from two-way players Ryan Tranter (6-2, 225), Steve Ranes (5-11, 220) and Matt Martinez (5-11, 190) to come close to a playoff spot. As always, the Pride will have good speed. The track team, coached by Kiefer, has won three consecutive 5A state championships. Most of the football team runs track.

Improved Marcos de Niza looks to get better. Second-year coach Tom Joseph returns 21 lettermen - most in the league - from a 4-6 squad which played everybody tough except Mountain View. The Padres offense starts with quarterback Scott Gerlach (5-9, 175), who played well last year, throwing for 722 yards and seven TDs. Two-way back Mike Downing (6-0, 185) rushed for 741 yards and scored 13 times. Another two-way back, senior Tony Scott (5-9, 170), down lineman Ryan Distefano (5-11, 212), linebacker Andy Meja (5-8, 185) and safety Brian Clark (6-1, 180) are best bets for all-region honors. If lettermen John Downing, James Dietrich, Kieran Davern, Joby Carlson, Adam Smith, Ignacio Garcia and Justin Gammage step up, Marcos has a shot at a playoff spot for the first time in eight years.

Curt Weber returns at Yuma, a school he coached to 6-4 and 7-3 seasons in 1992-93. It will be a challenge, but big, physical linemen give the Criminals a shot. Aaron Grant (6-3, 260) starts at tackle, but has enough skills to play linebacker. Jeff Ordway (6-7, 275), Dan Doerr (5-9, 260), Fred Dammeyer (6-3, 220), Bill McKenzie (6-3, 220), Scott DeLoge (6-1, 210), Sergio Vasquez (5-11, 260) and Jason Chretin (6-1, 260) help form the biggest forward wall in the Central Region.

It went from bad to worse at Casa Grande. The Cougars beat Nogales 22-15 in their opener then dropped nine straight. In the process, the defense gave up 430 points. Somehow, the coaching staff needs to find a way to get the ball to Joey Graves, a slick 6-1, 175-pound all-region pick at receiver. He also plays in the secondary. That job belongs to quarterback Jon Roberts (6-2, 185), the key figure in the game plan if the team is to avoid another 1-9 finish. Two-way back T.J. Rackley (5-10, 170) saw playing time as a sophomore. Felipe Canales (5-11,

phoenix football '97

Mike Downing Marcos de Niza

235) and junior Tommy Tracas (6-2, 235) will be asked to go both ways on the line.

Desert Vista, newest school in the Tempe District, gets its varsity baptism. but the Thunder will operate without seniors. Only two other East Valley schools, Mesa Westwood in 1962 and Marcos de Niza in 1972, played varsity ball without seniors. Veteran coach Jim Rattay, a former Mesa mentor, likes what he sees in several juniors, including backs Bobby Wade (5-11, 175), Corey Noonan (6-1, 180), Chris Snow (6-0, 175), Kevin Gawlick (5-9, 180) and Josh Gill (5-10, 180). Two linemen, Brent Avila (5-10, 205) and Scott Schafer (6-0, 220) look solid. Unfortunately, they'll have to go both ways, until the Thunder's growing enrollment helps improve the depth chart.

5A DESERT VALLEY REGION

- 1. Phoenix St. Mary's (5-5)
- 2. Phoenix Brophy Prep (12-2)
- 3. Paradise Valley (7-2-2)
- 4. Scottsdale Horizon (7-4)
- 5. Yuma Kofa (3-8)
- 6. North Canyon (3-7)
- 7. Shadow Mountain (2-8)

Last year, St. Mary's season ended abruptly, at 5-5. It was the first time the Knights failed to reach the playoffs since 1979. "We should see improvement in all areas of our game," says Pat Farrell, approaching his 20th head coaching season at the school. "I would consider us a top ten team this year."

Better depth and experience will help. Seventeen lettermen, some of the biggest linemen in years, an improved kicking game, and an all-state defensive back make the Knights a high pick. Talented Willie Daniel (6-0, 190), a two-way back with 4.6 speed, is the school's top prospect. He also played on the Knights' 26-4 basketball team. Wingback Kevin Fahrendorf (6-1, 170) and Daniel make the Wing-T go. He's also the team's punter. Center Trent Fangman (6-0, 210) and guard Scott Simon (5-11, 240) earned all-region honors. Rob Thompson (5-9, 185) and Greg Swenson (5-10, 190) start at linebacker. Big Zach LaPrade (6-4, 210) is a two-way end. At one time or another, Rocky Burgess, Nate Pacheco, Marcel Lopez and Andy Hill started. The quarterback position could belong to senior Charles Rogucki, but it's not a sure thing. Junior tackles Jason Stevenson (6-2, 230) and C.R. Duley (6-4, 245) could start.

Brophy Prep qualified for post-season play for the 10th straight year, reaching the finals for the first time since 1972. Coach Tim Sanford's high-scoring squad (507 pts.) lost only twice, both times to Mountain View. Along the way they beat St. Mary's (24-0) for the first time in 16 years. Only six of 22 starting positions return, but one, junior fullback/linebacker Brian Gaffney (6-1, 220), is top-notch. Last year he rushed for 600 yards, averaging 6.7 yards per carry. Other starters include receiver Brad Belsher (29 catches), defensive backs Tim Chester and Nathan Thompson, big (6-3, 260) center Bruce Hermie, punter Mike Blake (32.8 aver.) and kicker Terry Wood (58 PATs, 8 FGs). Look for senior guard Mike McHorney and juniors Ryan Dickerson, Carson Bradley, Monte Coleman and Courteny to start. Bradley, at quarterback, has big shoes to fill. Last year Tom Wurtz passed for 2,123 yards.

With only six lettermen returning, Horizon's eight-year playoff run could end. "We'll be very young," claims Doug Shaffer, 86-48-2 at the Scottsdale school. "With the addition of Paradise Valley, we'll have one of the toughest leagues in the state. It will be hard to do well with a young team." Center Scott Huff (6-1, 220) and deep back Joe Halley are best bets for post-season honors. Tadd Barnett (5-10, 165) looks to start at guarterback. Tight end Justin Jiles (6-5, 230) is a big target. Andrew Hawking and Neal Thompson double at receiver and start in the secondary. Jesse Kovac and Joe McDonagh play fullback/linebacker. Typical Horizon linemen like Ryan Gregor, Nate Pownall, Dan Pownall, Derek Sanz and Matt Marach tip the scales at 220-plus pounds.

Paradise Valley moves back into the league, up from the 4A Skyline, where they finished 7-2-2. If all the cast members return, the Trojans will be competitive. Quarterback Steve Mullins (6-4, 195) improved each game, finishing with 171 completions for 1,437 yards and 14 touchdowns. That's a lot of passing for the Trojans ground-oriented Wing-T.

Junior Adam Marazzo (6-0, 195) was one of 10 sophomore who logged playing time. Reliable Matt Damore (5-10, 190) starts at center. Adam Norwood (5-11, 215) is a solid two-way tackle. Still, a key player in PV's attack is junior Francis Turner (5-9, 177), who rushed for 1,314 yards and 16 TDs. He already holds single game school records for rushing yards (289), points scored (34) and TDs (5). With so many young players, Paradise Valley could still be one year away.

Down in Yuma, the Kofa Kings played well at the end, but still finished 3-8. Fourth-year coach Louis Nightingale has one of the best signal callers in the state, quarterback David Gatliff. The 6-3, 210-pound senior completed 143 of 281 passes (51%) for 2,275 yards and 19 TDs. He threw for 317 yards against Scottsdale Horizon, and tossed five TD strikes against San Diego Montgomery. Two receivers, Jeff Weiss (20 catches, 466 yds.) and Matt Tams (20 & 364), are back.

North Canyon enters its fifth campaign, and it could be its best. Twenty-eight underclassmen played - most in the region - and two earned all-league spots: fullback Jared Fitzgerald (6-0, 197) and tackle Ben Harris (5-11, 255). Fitzgerald and back Danny Padilla played varsity ball as freshmen.Quarterback/safety Tim Patrick (6-0, 166), defensive end David Brockman (6-1, 189) and tight end Scott Asai (6-3, 203) add senior leadership. Shawn Quimby (6-2, 161) and tailback Conrad DeLaCruz (5-11, 186), both juniors, give the Rattlers extra bite.

Hal Pigusch played a lot of young players at Shadow Mountain, and it showed. But with quality players returning, the Matadors (2-8) should improve. Two-way linemen Donald Angulo (6-4, 215) and Travis Wood (6-0, 210) are best bets for post-season honors. With a lack of depth, several players will have to go both ways, but seniors Neil Cameron (6-4, 210), Chris Lingley (6-2, 250), Mike Duggan (6-0, 190) and Clark Childs (6-0, 210) are good two-way players.

but looks to be the Metro's top pick again. Only 14 seniors dotted its 34-man roster, so a 6-4 finish wasn't so bad. The Bruins return four all-region picks from one of the most talented leagues personal-wise in the state. Senior David Holmes (6-0, 205) is the main man. The fullback/linebacker, with 4.9 speed, could be one of the region's top players. Up front, TBHS has the league's best line, with allregion picks Dan Basco (6-2, 250), Kenny Davis (5-10, 220) and George Baymon (5-10, 230) returning. Big bodies Eric Montijo (5-11, 230), John Crites (6-3, 250), Ed Gonzales (5-10, 240) and Deshawn Fox (6-3, 255) add beef. Skill players like Joe Maloy, Ricky Denman, Joel Hernandez, Clifton Maggard, Tafuma Alston, Brad Timmons and Kevin Hughes are varsity tested. Hughes, just a sophomore, is one of the smallest (5-4, 135) but guickest backs in the league.

At South Mountain, 18 lettermen return from an 8-3 club which lasted one game into the 5A playoffs. In a wild offensive show. Mountain Pointe sent the Jaguars packing, 42-21. How well South does this year depends upon the defense. The offense looks loaded. Last year, the Jaguars blitzed rival Camelback 65-3, Casa Grande 63-27. Quarterback Richard Lucero (6-0, 170), a 6-6 high jumper last spring, completed 87 of 156 passes (56%) for 1,479 yards and 18 TDs. He threw only seven interceptions, and spread the wealth around. Wideout Jason Jenkins (5-11, 170) caught 17 passes for 261 yards. Dennis Bracamonte (5-11, 175) caught 12 passes for 237 yards. Jamarei Bryant (5-11, 180) caught five passes for 66 yards. In the trenches, Silvester Mata (5-10, 230) is the best bet for post-season honors. Mike Aldana (5-10, 210) returns at linebacker. Young Chris Manoz, a 240-pound tackle, played as a sophomore.

After a 2-8 slate in '95. Maruvale rebounded and won the Metro, finishing 8-4 after a quarterfinal loss to Chandler. Coach Tom Bruney has a blue-chip prospect in 6-2, 180-pound receiver Wayman Westbrooks. In two years, Westbrooks has caught 60 passes for 1,062 yards and 11 touchdowns. Last year he averaged 18.2 yards per catch. Westbrooks doubles in the secondary, along with teammate Larry Steward (5-9, 145), who averaged 21 yards per punt return. Senior Marco Burruel (6-1, 155) starts at quarterback. Jason Lyon (6-2, 275), David Speer (6-1, 270), Alfred Alvarez (5-10, 245), Eddie Clark (6-0, 245) and Rasteen Rice (6-0, 245) form a mammoth front wall. Rice is just a junior. Derrick Williams (6-0, 235) is the Panthers' best linebacker.

Race to 100

In the annals of Arizona schoolboy football, no high school has ever won 100 games in a decade. Phoenix St. Mary's, with 99 triumphs in the 1980's, holds the state record. Below are the leaders in the Decade of the '90's:

Wins	School	Years	Overall	Winning %

Once the region's doormat, Carl Hayden has become more competitive. Last year's 26-20 opening night win over North Canyon ended a 26-game losing streak. Nine weeks later the Falcons were in the playoffs for the first time ever. Linemen Jesus Solomon (6-3, 295) and Gabe Seniceros (5-11, 240) were allregion picks. Rafael Rios (5-10, 250) started. Linebacker Mike Hernandez (5-9, 209) earned several votes. Little Ruben Macias (5-8, 160) takes over at guarterback. Alfredo Robles (5-11, 160) averaged 10.0 yards per catch. Jeremy Brown (6-4, 205), the squad's best athlete, averaged 15.7. Twenty underclassmen lettered.

Alhambra started 3-0, then lost three close league games. Still, the Lions finished with the school's first winning season (6-4) since 1986. Coach Frank Lautt has three of the better players in the Metro, starting with all-state defensive back Travis Wells (5-10, 175). Running backs Robert Canidate (5-7, 155) and Malcom Moore (5-10, 165), who could see action at quarterback, both run 40 vards in 4.6 seconds. Wingback Charles Adams is a threat. Up front, the Lions are set with Bubba Paynter (5-10, 265) at center, flanked by Joe Murillo (6-3, 255) and Shamar Matthews (6-2, 250). James Eggleston (5-10, 175) is a small but guick (4.6) linebacker. "We'll be guick," warns Lautt. "If we get leadership from our senior class we'll be tougher than last year. We have a great group of hard working kids.'

North was young and carried only 20 players. It showed. The Mustangs gave up over 360 points for the second year in a row. But they finished 3-2 over the last half of the season, and 10 starting positions return. Quarterback Guillermo (5-11, 155), nose guard Jereme Cade (6-0, 270) and wideout Tom Watson (5-10, 150) could start for any team in the Metro. All three are solid two-way players. For the defense to improve, linebackers John Campos (5-9, 160), Richard Lomeli (6-0, 240) and Greg Aniceto (6-0, 195) must stay healthy. Junior Reuben Rico (6-3, 280) is a big, strong two-way tackle. Still, depth is a problem.

At Camelback, the Spartans gave up plenty of points themselves, 342 to be exact. South drilled them 65-3. Two years ago, two sophomores made an impact on the varsity: defensive back Eric Keyes (6-1, 170) and linebacker Derrick Williams (6-0, 208). Both played receiver and possessed good speed. But neither are in the program today. Defensively, seniors Dominic Charon, Chris Newton and Arthur Araiza must step up. Aeaiza is the Spartans' quarterback.

Central's plight was worse. The winless Bobcats gave up 41.2 points per game. Half the varsity returns. Six sophomores played. Two receivers, Shane Johnson (6-0, 185) and Bobby Snydor (6-0, 178) earned all-region acclaim. But quarterback Ray Brown (5-10, 175) may be the key. Mike Gray graduated. Three sophomores forced into combat last year were big: Jamie Sanchez (6-0, 260), Pedro Flores (6-0, 295) and Joe Moreno (6-0, 202).

5A NORTHWEST REGION

- 1. Glendale Ironwood (11-2-1)
- 2. Tolleson Westview (5-4-1)
- 3. Scottsdale Desert Mountain (3-7)
- 4. Deer Valley (3-7)
- 5. Phoenix Goldwater (5-5)
- 6. Kingman (11-2)
- 7. Mountain Ridge (0-5)

Five teams from this new region move up from 4A, with Ironwood the most prominent. The young Eagles (11-2-1) have played in back-to-back 4A championship games. Chuck Esquivel's forces almost won it all, dropping a 20-17 overtime thriller to Tempe in the finals. "I think going to ASU (for the finals) improves school spirit 100 percent," says the second year head coach. "We have definitely turned the corner as far as winning programs go."

Like all newcomers, Ironwood will have to earn respect. But the Eagles have the horses to do it. Thirty-three lettermen return, including several big bodies on the line. Gain Sapelli (6-6, 300), Chris Johnson (6-4, 225), Chris Morris (6-4, 215), Dan Pina (5-9, 215) and Josh Peper (6-2, 225) can match up with any 5A front. Tony Merlino (6-0, 200) has a shot at quarterback. Wide receiver Ben Moul (6-2, 180, 4.5) is the fastest Eagle in camp. Junior fullback Marcus Griffith (5-10, 215) and halfback Pat Wilson (6-0, 185) add size and speed. Defensively, Leo Zuniga (5-11, 190) is a solid linebacker. Scott Ernster (5-11, 175) and Adam Wagner (6-0, 170) start in the secondary. Ernster is the club's kicker, and a good

Ironwood's lone tie was with Westview. The Knights (5-4-1) were 15 points from an 8-2 season, and a possible playoff berth. With junior Rocky King (5-10, 170) and senior Eric Jackson (6-0, 180) in the lineup, coach George Martinez may have the best one-two quarterback punch in the Valley. Jackson played more (981 yards, 8 TDs), but King is penciled in as the starter. If that works, Jackson can move elsewhere, including the secondary. Both run 40 yards in 4.6 seconds. But the real threat is tailback Phillip Paige (see cover), a burner with 4.5 speed. He averaged 8.1 yards per carry, gained 1,038 and scored nine TDs. Against Lake Havasu he rushed for 250 yards on 22 carries. Wideout Robert Espinoza (5-10, 170) is a prime target. Mini-linebacker Matt Hamblin (5-9, 170) played varsity ball as a sophomore. Tackles Jaime Thiele (5-10, 160) and Philip Eager (6-6, 240) go both ways. Eager is just a junior.

Desert Mountain concluded its varsity baptism 3-7 and 66% of the squad returns. Two key players, deep back Sasha Vinnikov (5-8, 150) and punter Matt Axford (5-11, 165), earned first-team Scottsdale all-city berths. Vinnikov recorded 75 tackles, 10 fumble recoveries and three interceptions. Axford averaged 37.0 yards per punt. Defensive lineman Jason LaFon (6-3, 185) and receiver/deep back Eric Carrigan also return.

Only nine seniors, 11 lettermen overall, return at Deer Valley, where the Skyhawks (3-8) were buried in the playoff's first round by Mountain View. Coach Fred Haeger has to replace his entire secondary, but looks close to 100% on the line. Chris Espino (5-11, 225), an allregion pick, Joe Stroble (6-0, 210), Juan Jimenez (5-11, 225) and Sean Davidson (6-2, 230) return in the trenches. Newcomer Mike Reischman (6-4, 290) is just a junior. Offensively, juniors Matt Polk (6-3, 205) and Andy Gray (6-1, 175) will compete at quarterback. Gray will join Chris Burns (5-9, 160) and junior Collin Hurd (5-8, 175) in the Skyhawks' secondary. Polk, Josh Jensen (5-10, 200) and junior Allen McBride (5-10, 200) form the linebacking corps.

Seventeen underclassmen picked up letters at Goldwater, where the Bulldogs return one of the more talented players in the region, Landon Benson. The 5-11, 160-pound senior plays everywhere: secondary, running back, receiver and kick returner. Jeff Wilber (5-10, 170) plays everywhere too, but his strength is kicking the ball. J.D. Hutchinson (6-3, 225) is the Dogs' best lineman. Several underclassmen tipped the scales at 215-plus pounds, including Dwight Grape, Nathan Perkins, Ken Harbison, Nathan Lamb and Jason Mains.

At Mountain Ridge, a school with no seniors, 16 serious injuries doomed the Mountain Lions, and the school dropped varsity play after an 0-5 start. Coach Jim Ewan's forces will be better prepared, but less than one dozen seniors dot the roster. Two-way end Neil Sharp (6-0, 195) has all-region potential. Backs Chris Duffy (5-8, 150) and Pat Finkbone (5-9, 170) play both ways. Junior back Jose Virgil (5-10, 175), a good baseball player, had a 100yard game against Independence. Look for Justin King (5-10, 175) to start at quarterback. Two-way tackles Ryan Taffe (6-3, 205) and Rvan McCov (5-10, 205). a transfer from Nebraska, are going to be busy. Sophomore Skip Ast (5-9, 183) is a promising young back.

Kingman, a 4A school for years, moves into 5A warfare one year late. All-staters Trevor Mote and James Moua, two of the best players in the state, graduated. Running back Kurtis Yocum (5-11, 170, 4.7) is the Bulldogs best bet for post-season honors. Last year's 11-2 club dropped a 21-12 semifinal contest to Ironwood. Both schools move up to 5A together.

Peoria Powerhouse Packed Again

This fall Peoria, which has produced as many major college football prospects as any 5A school starts out on top. Staying there, in the competitive Arizona 4A race, will be another story. This year the school's high profile player is tailback Kyran Jones (see cover), a slashing runner with 2,094 yards and 32 touchdowns in his resume. Coach Doug Clapp, 108-29-4 (.788) in the past 11 years, returns enough quality players to field two teams. In fact, that's exactly what the Panthers do each year - two platoon.

At Glendale Apollo, coach Gregg Parrish has the Hawks flying high, finally. No 4A school in Maricopa County returns as many all-region picks as Apollo, including key position players like quarterback Zack Threadgill and young two-way tackle Ben Bowlen.

In Tempe, graduation cleaned out the state champs cupboard, but the Buffaloes got a break when linebacker Josh McBurney, a 5A Central all-region pick at Mesa Dobson, transferred in to play for his uncle, Tim McBurney

4A WEST VALLEY REGION

- 1. Peoria (7-4-1)
- 2. Peoria Centennial (3-6-1)
- 3. Agua Fria (8-4)
- 4. Glendale Cactus (9-2)
- 5. Tolleson (1-9)
- 6. Bullhead City Mohave (5-5)
- 7. Sunrise Mountain (JV)

Yes, PEORIA is the team to beat in this region, if not the state. If the Panthers stay healthy (that's been a problem lately), watch out. Coach Doug Clapp returns 28 regulars from a 60-man roster, including the Valley's top back, senior Kyran Jones (6-1, 183). The slick Panther used his 4.5 speed to set several school records, including touchdowns in a game (7), points in a game (42) and rushing yards (388). Quarterback Keith Jennings (5-11, 188) passed for 967 yards and six TDs. His guns are loaded. Marcus Neal (6-2, 180) and Kelvin Harris (5-7, 171) step in at receiver. Tackle Josh Jones (6-4, 281) is the main blocker. Center Reynaldo Moreno (6-3, 243) starts the show. Tony Hernandez (6-4, 274), David Lopez (5-11, 205), Ricky Ferrel (6-1, 251) and Anthony Cortinas (5-10, 235) join them on the line. Ferrel and Cortinas are juniors.

Defensively, Peoria gave up 265 points. Watch that drop. The secondary looks stronger than ever, especially with Brandon Falkner (6-2, 191, 4.6) and Owen Phelps (5-11, 167, 4.6) roaming around. Stay clear of Randy Zimmerman (6-4, 264), an excellent end. Tony Brunetti (6-0, 196), just a junior, is a productive linebacker (32 solo tackles, 96 assists). In fact, that position is deep, with Thad Cramer (5-10, 202), Garrett Battin (5-10, 205), Brian Schroder (5-11, 193) and Robert Tolliver (6-0, 206) in the lineup. The latter three are juniors.

"We were disappointed in the record, but not in the effort," claims Richard Taylor at Centennial, where the Coyotes return 21 players from a 3-6-1 team. Taylor's never-say-die squad lost to Peoria, Agua Fria, Paradise Valley and Mohave by one touchdown or less.

Defense will be strong, with five threeyear starters returning: lineman John Clanton (6-2, 265), linebacker Ryan West (6-2, 240), safety Brian Konderik (6-0, 190), corner Robby Eufemia (5-9, 168) and guard Anthony Becker (6-4, 250). Clanton, with 13 tackles for losses, is the key. West and Konderik recorded 98 and 66 tackles respectively. Junior Robbie Rawlings (6-2, 250) could start on the offensive line. If fullback Kyle Smith (5-10, 185) and tailback Brent Bean (5-9, 170) improve, the offense might catch up with the defense. Wideout Mark Marcos (5-11, 160), with 4.5 speed, is the fastest Covote in camp. Seniors Mike Puente and Gavin Costly will compete at quarterback. Costly is the club's punter.

Under first year coach Mike Grossner, Agua Fria jumped from the doghouse (0-10) to the penthouse (8-4). But Grossner departed for Glendale College, and the Owls face '97 with its third coach in three years, Mickey Bell. Three all-region picks return: linebacker Brad Holmes (6-1, 192), defensive end Cordell Lewis (6-2, 209) and junior back Keith Schuttler (6-1, 184). Schuttler was one of eight sophomores who saw varsity action. Three were good-sized linemen: Chris Schroeder (6-4, 286), Amos Walker (5-10, 240) and Alan Parker (6-4, 210).

Cactus, 9-2 on the field, lost heavily to graduation. Veteran coach Larry Fetkenhier returns just two offensive starters and four defenders. Rival Peoria knocked the Cobras out in the playoffs' first round. Still, size and speed are trademarks, and several key players possess both. Fullback Chris Cutting (6-2, 230, 4.7) rushed for 628 yards and nine TDs. Halfback Ryan McConnell (6-2, 203, 4.6) gained 444 yards. Sophomores Mike Schmite (6-4, 181, 4.7) or Jon Stoner (6-2, 178, 4.7) could get the nod at guarterback. The rest of the key players are linemen: Brandon Guida (6-0, 263), Clayton Modic (6-1, 201), Jimmy Salazar (6-2, 246), Craig Kurtzeborn (6-2, 247), Chad Best (6-3, 231) and Arthur Marsh (6-2, 228). Berto Preciado (6-2, 208) and junior Norm Boebert (6-5, 223) start at linebacker.

Improvement is the name of the game at Tolleson, where the Wolverines gave up 333 points in 10 games. Overall, 30 underclassmen played, including 15 sophomores. That's too many. Two-way linemen like Louis Cadriel (6-0, 195) and Elias Aragon (6-1, 215), both good players, need some help. Maybe it will come from the sophomore class, which included Da-Ron Gilbert (6-0, 200), Jesus Valdez (6-0, 225), Dan Molina (6-2, 240) and Chris Tom (6-0, 270), linemen all. Isaac Salcido (5-9, 170) and junior Ty Solie (5-10, 165) compete at quarterback.

Mohave batted .500 but missed the playoffs. Coach Terry King returns 13 lettermen from a 5-5 team which played tough the last three games. Mosses Love, a 2,000-yard back, is gone, but two first team all-league players return: safety Greg Young (5-10, 165) and two-way lineman Julian Perez (5-10, 230). Young will start at tailback. Sunrise Mountain, coached by former Prescott mentor Bill Gahn, starts its second year of play. The Mustangs will field frosh and JV squads only. Last year's frosh club got off to a great start, losing only once.

- 3. Sunnyslope (0-9-1)
- 4. Phoenix Thunderbird (1-9)
- 5. Buckeye (6-4)
- 6. Lake Havasu (3-7)

It's a one man race in this region, too. Apollo looks too strong for the pack, with nine all-region picks. Coach Gregg

Parrish returns 18 letter winners, and most saw action. The Hawks just missed the playoffs, playing juniors at every key position. Center James Anderson (6-4, 230) snaps the ball to the key guy, guarterback Zack Threadgill (6-3, 190), who passed for 1,737 yards and 14 TDs. Threadgill also holds on extra points and field goals, making Chris Wahl's job easier. Wahl was a second team all-region kicker. Junior fullback Nick Mangosing (6-5, 225) led the team in rushing (626) yds.), scoring (13 TDs) and receiving (30 cat.). "He will be a major college prospect," claims his head coach. Mangosing also plays linebacker, along with all-region picks Chris Boyland (6-4, 200) and Jason Hatch (6-2, 210). Nose guard Rvan Bakke (6-3, 255) and twoway tackle Ben Bowlen (6-0, 225) come to play. Bowlen is just a junior. Nonnie Bradley (5-10, 170), an all-region back, joins Chris Laute (5-11, 175) and Sergio Morning (5-10, 160) in the secondary. Laute, along with speedy little James Navarro (5-8, 150), give the Hawks two good pass receivers.

Glendale looks improved, especially depth-wise. Juniors from a solid JV unit move up. Second-year coach John Croteau runs the Wing-T and has the horses up front to make it go. Two-way tackle Adolph Bohn (6-1, 250) was an honorable mention all-region pick. Jerry Pacheco (6-1, 240), Jerome Lewis (6-0, 260) and Charles Parvin (6-32,190) join Bohn in the trenches. Junior fullback Victor Morales (5-10, 210) and halfback Pat Beavers (5-9, 170) form a solid backfield. Morales doubles at linebacker. Speedy Jeff Allen (5-9, 180) starts in the secondary.

Sunnyslope was better than its record, losing games by two, three and seven points. Still, the Vikings were winless. One dozen players return, but the key man is guarterback Stuart Hansen (5-11, 175). Why? He has to get the ball to Matt Nixon (6-1, 195), the Vikings doeverything receiver. Last year Nixon caught 66 passes for 959 yards and eight scores. He averaged 14.5 yards per catch. With 4.7 speed, big Dave Campbell (6-2, 205) doubles at fullback/linebacker. Still, for the offense to click, Hansen & Co. need protection. That comes in the form of Del Bossert (6-3, 210), Bob Hitchcock (5-9, 185), Gabe Rodriguez (6-0, 190) and Isreal Canez (5-11, 190), two-way linemen. Depth is still a problem.

Every team in the region looks improved, including Thunderbird, which

Dobson's Wild Horses Finish Strong

By LONNIE COLLINS

Apparently, it was Dobson's turn. Prior to the 1987 football campaign, every high school in Mesa had won a state championship except Dobson.

But Mike Clark's 51-man crew took care of that in a big way. Before 20,036 fans at Arizona State University, the Mustangs crushed rival Mountain View, and with surprisingly ease.

The score was 35-14.

"This is a great group of guys," said Clark after the win. "There is no most valuable player. I mean, they are all just great guys. Josh Arnold, T.C. Wright, Greg Boland, all of them. Emotionally, I'm 10 feet above the press box. This is the pinnacle of my coaching career."

Tailback Wright led all runners with 97 yards on 12 carries against the Toros. Fullback Boland rushed for 94 yards, and Arnold, a great two-way back who later starred at BYU, gained 81 yards.

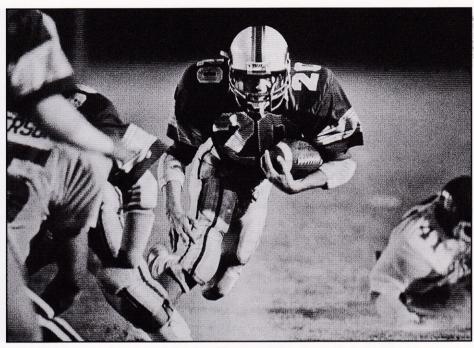

"Our offensive line is the best in the state," added Wright, whose younger brother Toby currently plays for the St. Louis Rams. "They've been doing it all year. They've never let us down."

Only twice, early in the season, did Dobson's backs drop the ball. Turnovers played big roles in two losses, 14-13 to Mountain View, and 26-12 to Mesa. But after that, only Tempe McClintock played the Wild Horses tough, falling 10-8 in October. Kicker Steve Rausch, who would later star at Arizona State, saved the day with a 45-yard field goal.

Then the Mustangs rolled. From November on, Clark's well oiled machine averaged 41.0 points to their opponents' 11.8, starting with a 35-14 rout of Tempe Marcos de Niza.

Wright scored on an 87-yard punt return, then blocked a punt and recovered it in the end zone, as Dobson finished the regular season with a 42-10 win over Tempe. Arnold rushed for 127 yards, including a 70-yard score, and Boland struck from 86 yards out.

The 'Horses sounded a warning bell in the playoff's first round - an easy 66-11 rout of Tucson Santa Rita. Rausch kicked a 48-yard field goal midway through the first quarter to get Dobson on the board.

Playoff games were something new to Dobson, but against Santa Rita the Mustangs played like veterans. "We've been getting better," said Clark afterwards. "I feel like we have a great team, but we're going to have to do things better, like throw more, as we go along. But right now I feel real good."

Better than Santa Rita coach Will Kreamer. "We had that touchdown called back early, which really hurt, and after that the wheels fell off. I haven't seen many teams in that league (Central), but I don't see how they can be better that Dobson," he said. "If we had to lose, at least I feel better that we lost to a team I think will be the next state champions."

The playoff victory was the Mustangs' first in the school's short history. It wasn't its last. After a mediocre first-half performance, the Dobson ground game kicked into gear and sliced through Moon Valley, 31-10. Rausch's foot was a big weapon, booting four extra points and a 47-yard field goal. Five of his six kickoffs landed in the Rockets' end zone, preventing returns.

Clark's club pounded Brophy in the semifinals, 37-12, before an overflow crowd of 8,000 at Westwood High. Arnold rushed for 146 yards and scored on a 65-yard interception return.

On the west side of town, before 8,000 fans at Glendale Community College, Mountain View's stingy secondary picked St. Mary's clean, intercepting quarterback John Bonds five times, as the Toros stopped the Knights, 21-18. It set up an all-Mesa finals for the first time in Arizona history.

After the season, Dobson reaped the rewards of victory. Between The Phoenix Gazette & The Arizona Republic, seven Mustangs landed first-team all-state berths. Clark was selected Arizona Coach of the Year. His Mustangs rushed for 4,004 yards and ground out 5,077 yards total offense. Ten years later, this Dobson squad is still one of the most productive in Mesa city history.

Peoria-Cactus Rivalry Biggest, Best

By JEFF KRIDER

The opponent was Cactus High, and a rematch was taking place in the '87 Class 4A finals, played at Arizona State.

Paybacks can be fun. Especially in athletic events. Especially the same year.

Peoria had another shot. Earlier in October, before 8,000-plus fans at Glendale College, Cactus handed the defending state champs its second consecutive loss, 28-14. One week earlier, Peoria fell one point short during a 14-13 loss to talented South Mountain, a larger 5A school.

By this time, the Cactus-Peoria rivalry had become one of the state's biggest and best. Always played at Glendale College and usually on city-wide TV, crowds estimated at 10,000 sometimes showed.

Coaches Doug Clapp at Peoria and Larry Fetkenhier of Cactus had the two hottest football programs on the "west side of town."

On a picture-perfect afternoon in Tempe, Peoria handed Cactus (12-1) its only loss, 28-6, giving the Panthers back-to-back state crowns for the first time ever.

In the 5A clash on the same field, Dobson trampled Mountain View 35-14 in an all-Mesa finals. Western Athletic Conference power BYU gobbled up two of Dobson's stars, halfback Josh Arnold and end Steve Holmes.

But the best and most talented team was probably Peoria, where college recruiters had a field day in February. No less than six Panthers landed college football scholarships: flanker Eric Guliford (Arizona State), end Steve Good (Stanford), linebacker Dusty Weiland (Iowa), guard Scott Peterson (Nebraska), halfback Marvin Johnson (New Mexico State), and deep back Ervin Cutright (Nevada-Reno).

The rematch in the finals was a complete reverse. In October, the Cobras' defense all but shut down Peoria, giving up two short scoring passes from William Babb to Good. But in December, Peoria's defense came to play, along with its explosive offense.

Cactus, which averaged 38 points a game, scored only in the second quarter, after recovering a fumble by Johnson, the state's leading scorer. Three plays later quarterback Kevin Standerfer passed to Jim Robinson for a 7-yard touchdown.

Marvin Johnson, who scored 30 touchdowns, runs for one of four against Sunnyslope, a 41-6 Panther win (Arizona Republic photo).

For Peoria, Babb passed for 217 yards, tossing two scoring strikes to Guliford, one covering 80 yards. Johnson made up for his lost fumble and scored twice on short runs, giving him 30 touchdowns on the season.

But the big play of the game was Babb's 80-yard strike to Guliford early in the game. That set the tone.

"It gave us a big edge," said Guliford, who in spite of his size (5-8, 160) played both college (Arizona State) and pro (Minnesota Vikings/Carolina Panthers) football. "We weren't upset we lost the first game, it was the way we lost. We knew we were capable of beating Cactus. We just had to show everybody we were capable of doing it."

While losing to South and Cactus early, Peoria was going through troubled times. "From a defensive standpoint, we had four starters out, half our defense,"

"Our offense is very similar to theirs. We run a lot of the same plays. But you can't just try to stop one player. They have so many weapons."

Clapp told The Arizona Republic.

"Quietly, our defense has built itself back into making us a good team. Defense is what's going to determine this game. We're going to have to keep them off the scoreboard."

In the loss to South, Guliford, who had returned three punts for touchdowns, played sparingly because of an ankle injury. The Panthers were out of step.

"Our offense is very similar to theirs," added Fetkenhier before the finals. "We run a lot of the same plays. But you can't just try to stop one player. They have so many weapons."

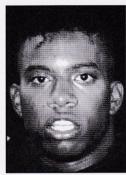

Peoria returned most of its big guns from a team which beat Agua Fria in the '86 finals. These two clubs met again in the '87 semis, won 21-16 by Peoria, thanks to a 66-yard return of a fumble by Marvin Cobbs. In the other matchup, Cactus scored two late TDs to topple Prescott, 14-10, setting up a rematch with the Panthers.

Two years earlier, Cactus had lost to Gilbert in the '85 finals, 27-0. Unfortunately for Cobra faithful, the '87 finals were similar.

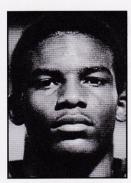

An interesting note was the performance of Peoria place kicker Tony Camino, who finished the season making 53 consecutive extra points.

Florence Grinds Out Perfect Season

By DAN KUKULSKI

Tom Mix and Tony the "Wonder Horse" thrilled movie goers for years. In 1994, longtime Florence residents were on hand to dedicate a roadside memorial to Mix, a star of silent Westerns, and Tony, his popular steed. Mix died in a car crash south of Florence in 1940.

Like many old Arizona towns, Florence has other historical landmarks, like the state prison, which originated in Yuma.

And the local high school.

In this Pinal County town, the popular sport of football originated in 1927, when head coach Vince Killerlain, a former Minnesota resident, guided the school's first squad. It was Killerlain's presence which led to the naming of the school's mascot, the Gophers.

During the Minnesota transplants first two seasons in the profession, the Gophers won only one game, a 7-0 win over Superior, played at the new Florence airport.

But times change. Football interest took off. Sixty years after the school's first game, Florence posted a perfect 13-0 record and knocked out Phoenix Christian in the 1987 Class 2A finals, 35-17. These Gophers were coached by Tom Shoemake.

The schools followed the same script two years earlier, when the two Central League powers met in the finals, only to have Christian upset the unbeaten Gophers, 17-7.

"The comparisons are real similar," PC coach Walt Beamis told The Arizona Republic. "They were 12-0 in 1985 and everyone thought they would be a shoo-in to win it."

"We're playing pretty good now," said Shoemake. "I thought we had the possibility of going all the way this year."

Florence had the most potent offense in Class 2A ball, scoring 445 points and grounding out 4,470 yards of real estate. All-state halfback Willie Smith, just a sophomore, rushed for 1,505 yards and scored 25 touchdowns. His biggest day: 250 yards and five TDs during a school record 89-8 slaughter of Seton Catholic High in Chandler.

Following a hard-fought win over Hayden the week before, Florence's Red & White machine hopped back with a passion. "The game, played in Chandler, pitted a spaced-out Gopher crew against Shoemake, who coached for 11 seasons in two different stints, won three state championships (Florence Blade-Tribune).

a smaller but spirited Seton team," wrote Jac Polsgrove of the Florence Reminder. "Florence's size and experience, not the team's attention to on-field action, saved the game for the Gophers."

Florence's lack of attention was best illustrated when senior Frenchie Taylor picked up a Seton fumble and proceeded to dash 76 yards downfield - into the wrong end zone. He then ran 42 yards back toward Seton's goal once he realized his mistake, but officials had already decided to grant the Sentinels a safety.

The Gophers had taken a 21-0 lead before "Wrong Way" Taylor did his 118-yard tour of the field. Paradoxically, Taylor had put Seton points on the scoreboard for the first time this season.

Shoemake, who would coach two different stints at FHS, knew he had a championship-caliber club after four impressive wins in September: 41-0 over ... The Gophers had taken a 21-0 lead before "Wrong Way" Taylor did his 118-yard tour of the field. Coolidge, a larger 3A school, 22-0 over Eloy Santa Cruz, 44-7 over outmanned Ajo, and the hard-fought win over Havden.

Running and throwing, Joey Mariscal, who would pass for 1,107 yards on the season, accounted for four touchdowns against Coolidge.

Smith's 86-yard kickoff return got the train on track against Eloy, and the Gophers' stingy defense picked off three passes on way to the rout of Ajo.

Mariscal's short field goal sealed Hayden's fate. Then came the Seton debacle.

During a 55-0 rout of Queen Creek, the Gophers scored 42 points in the first half. The secondary intercepted a school record six passes, three by Lance Gardner.

This set the stage for the first meeting with Phoenix Christian, a 15-7 Gopher triumph with Smith scoring twice. During a 35-0 win over Superior, the Gophers secondary, led by sophomore Billy Burris, stole five enemy aerials.

In the rematch with PC, young Smith, who would drop out of school before his junior year, rushed for 223 yards on 29 carries He scored on an 87-yard run as Florence ground out 424 yards.

McClintock Finally Reaches The Top

By LONNIE COLLINS

Tempe McClintock head coach Karl Kiefer had it all figured out. "We're going to try to dominate them on the line," he told The Arizona Republic, moments before his teams' clash with Phoenix Washington in the 1977 large school finals. "The greatest defense against the pass is a good rush.

"We'll blitz them. We'll stunt. As far as I'm concerned, it's stupidity to sit back and wait fro them to pass. We'll be very aggressive."

The main object of attention was Washington's heralded passer, quarter-back Mike Pagel, the soon-to-be player of the year who would later play at Arizona State, and start for the NFL Baltimore Colts as a rookie.

It was the Chargers' line play which led to a hard-fought 14-9 triumph, played before 14,900 at Arizona State. Both teams were making their first appearance in the finals. Washington finished 12-2. McClintock finished 14-0, after nearly one decade of exceptional play and nearmisses in the playoffs.

"We've been knocking on the door for a long time," said Kiefer afterwards. "We've had some good teams before, but we always seemed to lose the big games. I hope we've finally put that behind us."

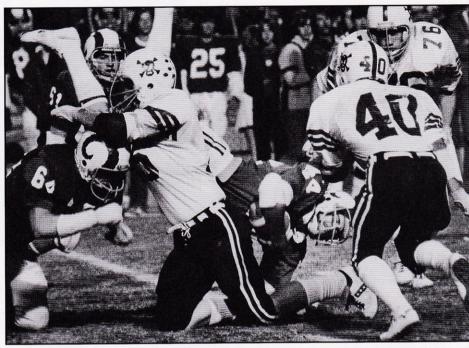

"They really put on a pass rush," said Pagel, who finished with 1,750 yards on the season. "They were getting a good rush, and when I did get away, I couldn't find anyone to throw to."

Pagel landed co-player of the year honors with Tucson Amphi linebacker Ricki Gray, later a star with the Oakland Raiders and San Francisco 49ers. But McClintock had a good field general of its own, junior Rick Neuheisel, who would later win MVP honors at the Rose Bowl, playing for UCLA.

The Chargers' game winning drive was sparked by a third-down pass from Neuheisel to tight end Doug Garrett, covering 26 yards and giving McClintock a first-down-and-goal at the Rams' 10 yard line. Two plays later, fullback Todd Greer smashed over for the winning score. On the night, Greer gained 131 yards on 23 carries.

Washington took a fourth quarter lead after Dave Wood's 40-yard field goal. Earlier, Pagel hit John Ross with a 22-yard scoring strike.

"We've played teams with big lines before," said Washington head coach Dave Swerdfeger afterwards. "But not one with players as big and quick as they were. They're a great team. To come back the way they did proved they're champions."

McClintock defenders, including Todd Greer (40) and Curtis McGahn (76), swarm Washington fullback Dave McKee (44).

Kiefer's Chargers finished 9-1 in 1976, 10-1 in 1975, and 8-2 in 1974. His 1969 club, led by All-American linebacker Bill Crowe (University of Texas), advanced to the large school semis, only to lose to Phoenix St. Mary's. But the most disheartening loss came in the '75 playoff opener, a 15-14 loss to Scottsdale Saguaro. That Charger club, led by all-state quarterback David Given and All-America wide receiver Ronnie

"We've been knocking on the door for a long time. We've had some good teams before, but we always seemed to lose the big games. I hope we've finally put that behind us."

Washington, was considered the school's best ever, and entered the playoffs ranked No. 1 in the state.

But in 1977, the playoff chips fell into place, starting with a brutal 10-7 battle with surprisingly tough Casa Grande. In that contest, McClintock lost running back/linebacker David Hinds for the rest of the season.

One week later, before an overflow crowd of 8,000 at Glendale College, the Chargers faced unbeaten St. Mary's. McClintock rallied for a 24-7 win after the Knight's Joe Allen returned a kickoff 96-yards for a score. Before Allen's sprint, Tony McClure got the Chargers on the board with a 28-yard field goal. From then on the winners controlled the line of scrimmage.

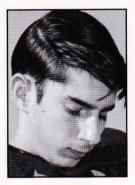

The semifinals pitted McClintock against Phoenix Maryvale, and Washington against Tucson Amphi; a double-header clash at Sun Devil Stadium. Both were hard-tough affairs, with McClintock prevailing 7-0 on a solo touchdown jaunt by Todd Greer.

Post-season honors rolled in for the Chargers, with end Kris Kentera, tackle Curtis McGhan, guard Steve Houston, linebacker Ron Thomas, deep back Mark Massey and Hinds landing first team all-state honors.

St. Mary's King of Football

By JEFF KRIDER

The scoreboard told it all: St. Mary's 34, Tucson Pueblo 22. The little Catholic school, located in downtown Phoenix, had done it. For the first time since 1949, the Knights were King of Football in the Grand Canyon State.

Looking on at the University of Arizona, and unbelieving crowd of 13,000 watched Ed Doherty's small, feisty club manhandle bigger Pueblo and make a clean sweep of the state.

St. Mary's jumped to a 21-9 first quarter lead and never looked back. All-state fullback Tim Smith, whose jersey number (40) was retired after the game, was the night's leading rusher, blasting his way for 139 yards on 29 carries. Junior quarterback Bill Mannion hit end Greg Anderson four times for 132 yards and a key first half TD.

It cooled down in the second half. St. Mary's struck to ball control with the running game. Mannion threw no passes. Pueblo quarterback Frank Fernandez hit 10 of 24 for 234 yards and two scores, but it wasn't enough. The score stood at 34-15 at the half. St. Mary's had arrived as a true football power.

"This is impossible, it's got to be," said Smith, who finished with a school record 1,720 yards and 25 touchdowns on the season. "Just two years ago we were only a little school down the street. Now we're state champs!"

St. Mary's took advantage of an ankle injury to Pueblo's key defensive player, halfback Rudy Quihuis, who had intercepted a state record 18 passes during the season. He was ineffective.

When Pueblo started a comeback, senior Joe Vales, a 175-pound tackle, halted a Warriors drive with an interception. Then Smith recovered a Pueblo fumble on a St. Mary's punt. "Pueblo was the best offensive team we played all year," added Jim Ewen, at 145-pounds one of the smallest players on the Knights' 30-man roster.

"We couldn't match them in size or speed, but we sure matched them in guts," said Doherty after the game. "Our guys are small and slow, but great."

Smith rushed for a school record 1,720 yards and scored 25 TDs.

The Knights' defense provided the margin of victory. Recovered fumbles, interceptions, clutch tackles. It all fell into place.

But the seed was planted two years earlier, when the school hired Doherty, a former head coach at both Arizona and Arizona State. It paid off quick, as the Knights won the Skyline Division crown in 1966 and advanced to the state semifinals.

But that campaign ended with a thud, a devastating 34-0 loss to nationally ranked Tucson High. The difference that night was speed and bruising line play, headed by the bone-crushing blocks and

"This is impossible, it's got to be! Just two years ago we were only a little school down the street. Now we're state champs!"

tackles by Tucson's trenchmen.

"I've had some long nights in this stadium, and this was one of them," said Doherty. "Tucson High is by far the best football team we've played. They're incomparable. They're just great."

But one year later it was different. St. Mary's provided the hurt. Throughout the '67 campaign, the Knights seldom faced anyone their own size or speed, but they didn't meet anyone who could match them in desire or determination.

They sounded a warning bell early, a 12-0 victory over Tucson Salpointe. Flanker Greg Anderson was a standout, intercepting three passes and making key tackles to keep Salpointe contained.

Led by the 210-pound Smith, St. Mary's then rolled through Glendale, 20-7. They scored in every period and routed Paradise Valley, 48-0. Smith gained 208 yards as the Knights won their third shutout in four games, a 26-0 win over Phoenix Union.

After St. Mary's speared Washington 19-6, half the regular season was over and the Knights were still undefeated, and ranked No. 2 in the state. Smith, who carried the ball 28 times, and little Joe Fierros were the workhorses

St. Mary's then clobbered Sunnyslope, 28-7. Moon Valley succumbed 25-7, setting up a key match with rival Brophy Prep. Anderson hauled in touchdown passes covering 10 and 66 yards and the Knights prevailed, 34-12.

During a 41-7 rout of Prescott, Smith toted the ball 30 times for 201 yards as the Knights rolled. The Badgers' chances for a playoff spot disappeared in the dust. One week later Doherty's club wrapped up the league crown with tough 14-0 victory over Cortez. Smith gained 192 of St. Mary's 227 yards rushing and scored both touchdowns.

Before 8,000 fans at Glendale College, Washington fell 28-12, stung by two tackle eligible plays. Both worked for touchdowns. One week later St. Mary's posted a tight 20-14 win over Camelback in the state semifinals, before 11,568 fans at Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe, setting the stage for a matchup with Lou Farber's Pueblo Warriors.

Mesa's Repeat a Surprise

By SKIP BRYANT

It truly was the lazy days of summer in the Valley of the Sun in 1947. But when Labor Day weekend rolled around, dramatic changes took place - summer vacations ended, schools started again and the long awaited first day of football practice arrived.

As the Mesa High football team assembled, fresh from a state championship campaign in 1946, coaches, players and fans had every reason to envision another big season.

Mesa had long since arrived as a consistent force. Across the 1930s, the Jackrabbits averaged over eight wins per season, and now, well into the 1940s, they were still winning at least eight games a year. In fact, Mesa was coming off three straight nine-win seasons, with schedules that included Texas schools.

The winning tradition, established by coach Steve Coutchie over an 18 year stint, was in the capable hands of a rising Arizona prep coaching star, Edgar "Mutt" Ford.

Only big city schools Phoenix Union and Tucson had ever repeated. Ironically, as good as Mesa had been between 1930 and 1946, it had just two state titles to show for it.

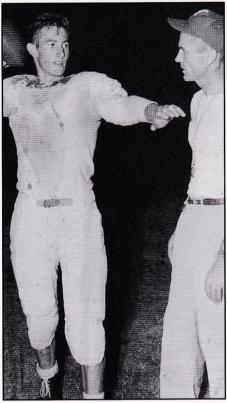

Also helping to keep repeat talk subdued was the obvious: Two-time all-state tailback Wilford "Whizzer" White was now a freshman at Arizona State. "When Wilford graduated we lost our backfield," recalled Bill Workman, an all-state center in '46, and destined to repeat in '47.

"I spent a lot of time handing off to Whizzer," added three year starting quarterback Dan Russell, who also would make the '47 all-state team. "He was quite a player, a great athlete. After Whizzer left, everyone thought we'd have nothing left."

Russell was the only starter returning in the backfield. On the line, only Workman and right tackle Gene Johnston returned as starters.

As it turned out, Ford had all the right answers. It didn't take long for preseason question marks to turn into exclamation points.

Charging out of the gate, the 'Rabbits rolled through their first four games. Safford was crushed, 39-12, as Mesa rushed for 408 yards. North High fell, 26-13; Mesa stopped El Paso Bowie 14-

Quarterback Dan Russell and head coach "Mutt" Ford.

0, and St. Mary's was edged 12-6.

Ford had retooled the offensive line with new faces around Workman and Johnston, the most prominent being tackle/kicker Gary Feezor. Ford went to the air more frequently. Russell and '47 all-state end Bill Glazier became one of the best pitch-catch teams in Mesa history.

"I thought he'd (Glazier) be too small, but he started to put on some size that year," Russell said about his all-state battery mate. "He had the ability to catch them where I threw them. He could reach around and make those fabulous catches. He was quite an athlete."

Russell would throw 15 touchdown passes, and Glazier was on the receiving end of 10, including two in the fourth quarter when Mesa rallied to beat St. Mary's. Dick Stowe started at tailback, but a junior, Don McClintock, came on to take over the spot, scoring nine touchdowns.

"We called him (McClintock) "Ducky" because of the way he waddled around and through teams for yards," Workman said. "He was more of a power runner than Wilford."

Four straight wins set the stage for the lone '47 meeting with arch-rival Tucson. It was Mesa that ended the Badgers' run of four straight state titles in 1946, and for 46 minutes it looked like it had the Badgers' number again.

"We were leading late in the game and they sent in John Carroll at quarterback," Russell remembers. "In substituting they set up a sleeper play and completed it for a touchdown."

So the 'Rabbits left Tucson with a 7-7 tie. It would be the only blemish on a near-perfect 10-0-1 record. But three close calls remained. After Glendale was smoked 39-7, Mesa was able to salvage back-to-back one point victories.

A tough Yuma squad was nipped 14-13, with Feezor's two extra points deciding the hard fought contest. A week later McClintock and Stowe each rushed for a score, Russell and Glazier teamed on another and Feezor added two extra points as El Paso High was edged, 20-19.

Two easy victories, 26-6 over Phoenix Union and 26-7 over Bisbee, set the stage for the seasonal finale against Tucson Amphitheater. A win would give Mesa its first unbeaten season in the school's history.

What was expected to be a rout ended up a cliffhanger, with the 'Rabbits finally prevailing, 20-14.

"We had no outstanding players but we worked together as a unit," said Workman. "Ford made it all work and we had the championship season of 1946 to build on. There was no playoffs then but we were champions because we played and beat the other schools that were in contention."

Adds Russell, "I think we surprised a lot of people. I know (our season) surprised me. It was a case of playing well together as a team."

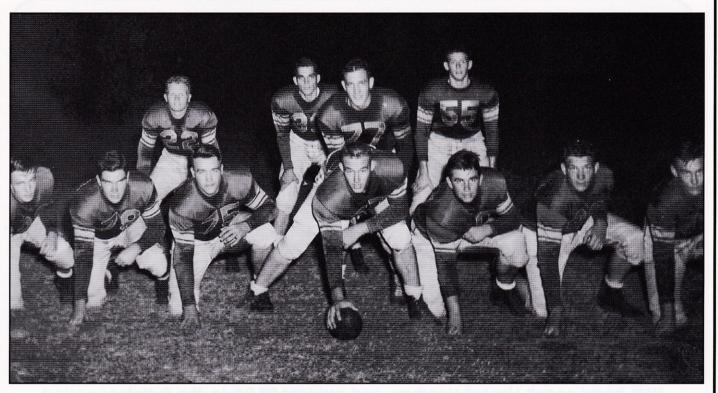

The Jackrabbits' 1946-47 titles remain landmark achievements. Fifty years later none of the Mesa schools (four have joined Mesa along the way) have been able to put together back-to-back state championships, failing 14 times.

Perhaps fittingly, opportunity number 15 presents itself this fall, 50 autumns later. Entering the 1997 campaign, Mountain View, with Workman's grandson Tate Gunning returning at quarterback, is heavily favored to repeat its 1996 Class 5A title.

Tempe Wins on "Jim Sparks Night."

Buffaloes' Pete Ruiz (44), Carl Miller (36), Jim McRoy (30) and Billy Barnes (43) chase down a Coolidge ball carrier.

On Nov. 29, 1947, at historic Goodwin Stadium, on the campus of Arizona State College, Tempe High's Buffaloes made it nine straight victories, walloping the Coolidge Bears, 25-6.

The season was a far cry from the 4-7 finish at nearby Arizona State.

Close to 3,000 fans witnessed the game, plus the half-time ceremonies, which honored Jim Sparks ("Jim Sparks Night"), who died earlier from injuries suffered in football practice.

With the win came the mythical Class B state title. The most successful Buff season in history had been postponed from October 3, the date of Sparks' death. Proceeds went to his family.

The game was played with the American flag at half-mast. During half-time, the Buffalo marching band formed "Jim" on the playing field, and tackle Bobby Fram sang the hit song "My Buddy."

After the game, players hauled their coaches off the field. Two carried head coach Hascall Henshaw, but it took six players to take care of hefty Bill Boyle, the line coach.

Like the previous eight games, Tempe rolled up a three touchdown lead before the opposition crossed midfield. Henry Hammer cut loose with a spectacular 48-yard jaunt for the first Buff TD. Bobby Wood scored on a short run, then Ben Elkins hit junior Roy Coppinger for a score. Coppinger, later a basketball and baseball star at Arizona State, later tallied the final TD.

Henshaw, who won 70% of his games at Tempe, offered a simple answer for all the success: "They win because they're happy. These kids sing and laugh before every game. You never saw such morale. It's real team play that has brought us along."

The cheerful one-time all-conference halfback at Arizona State, and a former schoolboy star in Tombstone, hesitated to rate one of his players above another. "This is a team," he said. "No individual stars."

But the general opinion is that the Buffs' star end, Coppinger, is as good as any found in the high school ranks. Quarterback Elkins is the big brain of a smart, little ball club, which averaged 158-pounds across the line.

Henshaw, who died in 1996, rated all his lightweight ball carriers, especially 160-pound fullback Bob Wood, as equally valuable. Every other back weighed less than 150 pounds, just like Henshaw himself, a 139-pound college back. When he and Boyle played at Arizona State, the school's mascot was a "Bulldog." These two played like it.

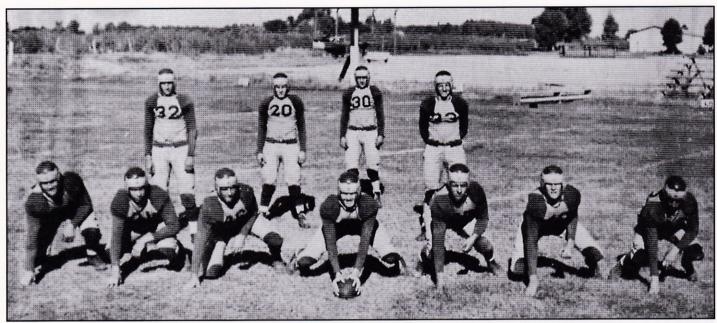

As a scatback on Dixie Howell's two Sun Bowl teams, Henshaw ran the Border Conference ragged. He performed such feats as dropping a kickoff, picking it up on the bounce and scoring. He once scored on a 94-yard run from scrimmage in the Sun Bowl.

In 1947, three different Arizona newspapers selected all-state squads. Fram, Coppinger, Elkins and center Alonzo Holmes were mentioned.

Two Class B coaches, Henshaw and Tucson Amphitheater's Murl McCain, were voted outstanding prep mentors by fellow coaches. The 30-year old Henshaw refused to take all the credit for his success.

He gave most of the credit to Boyle, his assistant. The Buffs employed a T-formation and were stronger in the second half than the first. Defensively, only one school, Chandler, scored more than one TD against them. The Buffs beat the Wolves 26-13.

Buckeye's Backs Just Too Much

Buckeye, founded in 1888 and located 30 minutes west of Phoenix, has withstood floods, droughts and economic changes. Still, this small Arizona settlement managed to transform the hot desert land into a green and productive valley.

The town was incorporated in 1929, and included 440 acres. That same year the local high school, the Buckeye Union Wildcats, laced up their football shoes and hit the gridiron running.

Three months later Chester Vaughn's once beaten squad was the toast of Arizona's Class B ranks, thanks to a 25-7 post season win over Phoenix Brophy Prep. Only Phoenix Union, a Class A school with an enrollment exceeding 3,000 students, managed to beat the Wildcats. Fullback Lewis Burke landed votes on The Arizona Republican all-state squad.

Soon, football became so popular in Buckeye that new bleaches were added to handle the increasing crowds. Year after year, Buckeye was a contender for the "Little 7" crown, a league which featured the Hawks, Casa Grande, Glendale, Tempe, Chandler, Peoria and Gilbert.

By 1937, first year coach Chet Fuller had a real juggernaut on his hands, and a school with a new mascot. Fans of the state's largest college, the University of Arizona, objected to another state school using the Wildcat mascot. Thus Buckeye became the "Hawks."

With captain Tommy Jones, the Hawks' slick quarterback, and a supporting cast including flashy junior halfback Dan Rodgers, Fuller's squad knifed its way through nine opponents, undefeated and almost untested. They pitched six shutouts.

In the season opener, a 38-7 rout of Casa Grande, the Hawks' backfield rolled for 425 rushing yards. Rodgers scored on sprints from 85 and 55 yards out. Quarterback Jones scored three times and hit end Walter Wade for another. Rogers scored every touchdown during a 27-0 shutout of Coolidge, and all but one during a 20-0 pasting of Peoria. He showed his versatility during a 26-7 win over the Phoenix Indians, sending a 62-yard quick kick dead at the two.

The finale against Glendale was a classic defensive struggle, with the Hawks prevailing, 14-0. Rodgers set the tone with a 70-yard punt return for a score, then sealed the Cardinals' fate with a short run to the end zone. Wade tacked on two extra points.

"... I played with so many great players. Especially the entire team of 1937. Every member of that team deserves recognition."

End John Parker, tackle Robert Weskamp and Rodgers earned all-state acclaim. Jones and guard Bill Johnson were honorable mention picks.

After the season, Rodgers, Jones, Parker, Johnson and Weskamp were selected to the first Arizona all-star prep squad to represent the state in intersectional competition. Against the Chicago All-Stars, in the first Valley of the Sun Classic, the visitors from the Windy City edged Arizona 9-6 on a last minute field goal.

One year later, Rodgers finished his career as the most productive rusher and scorer in Buckeye's short history. To this day Rodgers, along with future all-state backs Ronnie Rainey, Gloyes Lemons, Jerry Bridgeman and Gerald Brown, are considered the school's all-time best players.

"My years in Buckeye taught me many things, and certainly helped me keep both feet on the ground," said Rodgers recently from his home in Fresno. "It's such a great honor to be thought of and remembered, because I played with so many great players. Especially the entire team of 1937. Every member of that team deserves recognition."

won only once. Seventy players played spring ball, so the numbers are there. The Chiefs have good size and improved speed. Halfback Chad Womack (5-10, 165), the club's MVP, managed over 500 yards rushing and receiving. He also starts in the secondary. Two-way back Heremy Urban (5-9, 160), just a junior, was the Chiefs' defensive star. Junior Chris Lundberg (5-8, 150) starts at wideout and does the kicking. Nick Van Peursen (5-11, 155) is another two-way back. Tight end Kyle Lane (6-1, 200) flanks Charlie Bays (6-3, 205), Lucas Hampton (6-2, 245) and Kyle Dinapol (6-0, 185) on the line. Colin Laisure-Pool is the team's fullback. "We had a very young an inexperienced team," says Gary Mauldin, 85-57-1 in 13 years in the prep ranks. "We'll be a lot better this time around."

Under Dick Napolitano, Buckeye has been competitive in 3A warfare, winning 56% of the time. Now the Hawks move up to 4A, so it's going to be interesting. Quarterback Jake Nelson (6-0, 185) shows promise. Jaron Christensen (6-0, 180) doubles at receiver/defensive back. Sam Uptegrove (6-2, 210) is a solid fullback. Travis Yuen (6-2, 210) does the kicking, but also plays linebacker. Still, the key player is all-region 'backer Ian Accomazzo (6-0, 185), who might switch to the secondary. Last year he recorded 17 tackles in a playoff loss to Globe.

Back-to-back 3-7 campaigns greet Lake Havasu fans. The Knights' coaching staff welcomes 60% of the team, including all-region lineman Dion Nelson (6-1, 192), a solid two-way player. Running back Ronnie Fleming (6-3, 188) and tight end Jason Thuneman (6-0, 180) are back. Only four regulars tip the scales at 200-plus.

4A DESERT SKY REGION

- 1. Phoenix Washington (9-3)
- 2. Phoenix Greenway (7-4)
- 3. Prescott (5-5)
- 4. Phoenix Cortez (6-4)
- 5. Moon Valley (5-5)
- 6. Bradshaw Mountain (5-5)
- 7. Glendale Independence (3-7)

Year-in-and-year-out, in this region, different teams rise to the top. But Washington is the most consistent. Last fall, Steve Chisman's Rams were loaded with skill players (two signed with Pac-10 Arizona), but this year rely upon size and strength. Junior center Ryan Gerdes (6-1, 215) starts the show. Look for Jimmy Meyer (5-9, 160) to start at quarterback.

Peoria junior runs for 388 yards

During a 43-43 tie with Paradise Valley last year, Peoria tailback Kyran Jones set a Phoenix Metropolitan record for a junior with 388 yards rushing. Below are the state's all-time single game rushing leaders:

- 469 Stanley Jackson, Chinle vs Red Mesa, 1976
- 426 Aaron Craig, Window Rock vs Tuba City Greyhills, 1993
- 403 Joey Capps, Bullhead City Mohave vs Flagstaff Coconino, 1993
- 402 Burton Belton, Winslow vs Prescott, 1958 (jr)
- 388 Kyran Jones, Peoria vs Paradise Valley, 1996 (jr)
- 381 Alvin Leon, Baboquivari vs Clifton, 1977
- 376 Cippy Correa, Wellton Antelope vs St. Johns Indians, 1973
- 358 Glenn Rogers, Agua Fria vs Phoenix Carl Hayden, 1982
- 352 Joel Huerta, Scottsdale Coronado vs Phx. Goldwater, 1995 (so)
- 344 Brian Pringle, Sunnyslope vs Prescott, 1970
- 343 Russell Trejo, Casa Grande vs Scottsdale Chaparral, 1994
- 339 Ronnie Bonner, Mesa Westwood vs Scottsdale Arcadia, 1972 (so)
- 336 Mario Bates, Tucson Amphitheater vs Tucson Santa Rita, 1990
- 334 Paul Fichera, Scottsdale Coronado vs Tempe Union, 1990 (jr)
- 331 Darnell Autry, Tempe Union vs Scottsdale Chaparral, 1993

Fullback Garric Simmons (6-1, 210) averaged 5.8 yards per carry, gained 726 and scored 14 TDs. Up front, Nick Puchta (6-2, 205) and Elliot Marks (6-1, 190) are crisp blockers. On defense, Sebon White, David Witt, Ryan Franklin and Sal Rizzo are key players. Rizzo is a 5-10, 215-pound junior linebacker. "We've got to rebuild this year," warns Chisman. "But I'm confident that my staff will have this bunch ready."

Greenway coach Mike Brown sees back-to-back unbeaten JV teams, plus leftovers from a 7-4 playoff club as positive signs. Senior tackle Richard Fagan (6-3, 270) is a force in the trenches. Mike Hertzog (5-10, 205) joins him. Junior John Armijo (5-9, 170), with 4.6 speed, is an excellent two-way back. In the Demons' Pro-I, fullback Jay Ward (6-1, 200) does the blocking. Junior Jim Danielek (6-0, 190) is the center. Jeff Stanley (6-2, 204) is the tight end. Colby Cordova, Kevin McGaun, Chris Williams, Mike Kelso and Adam Schmidt are defensive starters.

Solid skill players, more experience, and a good senior class paint a bright picture for Prescott fans. Coach Bill White returns 16 players from a 5-5 squad, including defensive stalwarts Eddie Pena (6-2, 190), a deep back, and Mike Marioni (6-0, 195), a linebacker. Center Andy Andrist (6-0, 235) goes both ways. Marioni recorded eight sacks. Junior Layne Campbell (6-2, 205) should start at quarterback. If halfback Justin Davis (584 yards) moves back from Tennessee, the Badgers' stock will rise.

Cortez missed the playoffs by one game, but a 6-4 finish was the school's best in 10 years. "We had a great season and it caused excitement and interest on our campus." claims Rob Roberson. The senior class looks sound, but the key player is a junior, halfback Travis Gammage (5-11, 175, 4.6). Last year he gained 750 yards on 80 carries, a 9.4 average, and scored 11 touchdowns. He also caught 11 passes for 207 yards. Quarterback Jason Lunsford (6-1, 175) and kicker J.C. Rodosta (6-1, 185) are also keys. Lunsford starts in the secondary and Rodosta is the Colts' tight end. Senior Kenny Gammage (6-1, 170) can also play quarterback, but might be more dangerous at wideout. Joe Green (6-1, 195) is another good receiver. Guards Alex Jordan (6-2, 185) and Aaron Burke (5-9, 205) play on the depth-thin

The coaching staff isn't saying, but everybody else likes the backfield at Moon Valley. The Rockets played 23 underclassmen, including nine sophomores, but the key parts belong to quarterback Kerry Hodges (6-1, 175) and running back Chasda Martin (6-0, 185). Halfback Phil Johnson (5-11, 180) adds ammo to the backfield, while Jim Garber (6-0, 185) and Dale Rubenstein (5-10, 215) are solid two-way linemen. Justin

Watkins (6-4, 199) is an impressive-looking linebacker. Martin, Johnson, Garber, Rubenstein and Watkins all lettered as sophomores.

Skill players, always a strength at Bradshaw Mountain, will have to carry the Bears, which move into 4A warfare. Junior quarterback Bill Eckle (6-5, 205) is at center-stage. He completed 38 of 78 passes for 659 yards and seven TDs. Back Seth McKinnon (6-0, 185) rushed for 901 yards and eight TDs. Junior Joe Rosenblatt (6-2, 210) might be the Bears' best lineman. Classmate Sean Gatke (6-1, 270) is the biggest.

It doesn't get easy for Independence, which scored only 89 points last year, second fewest in 4A (Apache Junction scored 79). Still, coach Bill House is positive, and several key players are three-year lettermen. Halfback Dale Stuckey (5-11, 165), deep back Mike Izdepski (5-10, 155), guard Brent Benjamin (5-11, 190) and punter Justin Jackson (6-0, 175) have been through the wars. Jackson also starts in the secondary. Junior Gabe Flores (5-10, 160) gets the nod at quarterback. Nolan Taylor (6-0,160) is a capable split receiver.

- 5. Tempe Union (14-0)
- 6. Apache Junction (0-10)

They're optimistic at Chaparral, and for good reason. Third-year coach Ron Estabrook returns 20 players from a team which lost four games by less than nine points. All of those teams went to the playoffs. Most important, one of Firebirds' returning players is running back Jerry Schwartzberg (5-11, 195), probably the best back in the league. With a year to go, Schwartzberg is already the school's all-time rushing leader. Last year he gained 1,520 yards on 181 carries and scored 16 touchdowns. And with 4.7 speed, the 'Birds use him at strong safety. Quarterback Scott Johnson (6-3, 185), one of the East Sky's two best signal callers, threw for 1,484 yards and 17 scoring strikes. Tight end Adam Goodworth (6-2, 225), a good target, caught 16 passes for 198 yards. Two-way back Jess Morton (6-0, 205) has 4.7 speed. Ryan Cobb (5-11, 180) moves from the backfield to split receiver. Tackles Clay Muschinski (6-2, 240) and Chris Dobbins (6-0, 225) are all-region candidates. Guard Matt Way (6-2, 235) is a solid player. Defensive end Matt Kelley (5-11, 185), junior safety Zach Bies (6-2, 200), and linebackers Jake Ireland (5-10, 210) and David Williams (6-0, 190) are returning starters. Ireland made 58 tackles. Sophomore Josh Griffin (5-10, 175, 4.6) scored 22 TDs for the JV team.

Recently, the most consistent program resides at Coronado, where veteran coach Joe Corte enters his 16th season at the Scottsdale school. In Joel Huerta (5-10, 175, 4.6), Corte has one of the best backs in the East Sky. Career-wise. he's over 2,500 yards, with 1,118 last year. Quarterback Nick Poole (6-0, 195) completed 34 of 86 passes for 562 yards. Guard Nick Olson (6-0, 210) also plays linebacker. In fact, it will be Olson and teammates Brad Donn (6-2, 195), Ryan Kardell (6-2, 190), Jason Lester (6-0, 225) and Steve Schoch (6-1, 215) who make or break the Dons' season. The backfield is set. It's the guys in the trenches who hold the key. Three skill players, Josh Blocher, Brian Rait and Justin Peterson rotate from receiver to the secondary. Depth is a weakness, so most players go both ways.

Arcadia started five sophomores and went 5-5 with them. The Titans still look young, although QB Matt Cooley (6-0, 185) is back for his senior year. Jason Shepard (5-9, 170) doubles at halfback/safety. Cooley also plays in the secondary. Guard James Parks (6-2, 225) is another good senior. But juniors dominate the line, starting with center Chris Lundin (6-2, 220), and tackles John Harvey (6-5, 240), Rob Pfister (6-4, 215), Mario Canas (6-4, 255) and Cody Goodell (6-4, 255), "We will be very competitive," warns head coach Ron Vick. "Although we start so many juniors, we have our quarterback back for his third year. That helps."

In one quick year, Saguaro went from the penthouse (13-1) to the outhouse (3-7). Graduation and the opening of nearby Desert Mountain High cut into the Sabercats' enrollment. Still, second-year coach Walt Sword is optimistic. And who wouldn't be, with all-region picks Andrew Brigham (6-3, 210) and Brad Selby (6-5, 255) back. Both are excellent two-way players. Their strength is defense, and so is the whole club's, starting with down lineman Alex Willeford (6-4, 210), and defensive backs Ryan Dobson, Jon Rentschler, Conrad Loney and Andrew Turner. Dobson is the Cats' quarterback. Two-way linemen Josh Rebholz (6-4, 230) and Andrew Seiferth (6-6, 220) represent the junior class.

Tempe fans won't recognize this year's squad. Only 14 players from last year's state championship club return. Graduation all but cleaned them out. Just four starters return: guard A.J. Tucker (5-10, 215), tackle Bert Munoz (5-10, 305), flanker Matt Morris (5-8, 240), and the team's kicker, little Stephen Thompson (5-8, 140). Thompson was 47/47 on extra points. Coach Tim McBurney and his staff got a break when two linebackers, all-region pick Josh McBurney (5-10, 205), the coach's nephew, and Phillip Cassalia (5-10, 185) transferred from Mesa Dobson.

First-year coach Steve Neal has his hands full at Apache Junction, where stopping a 26-game losing streak is top priority. Tailback Dan Wilson (6-0, 190) managed 662 yards on 158 attempts. Quarterback Clayton Bried (5-11, 175) also returns. Safety Jack Douglas (6-0, 170) doubles at wide receiver. Jesse Rice (6-4, 230) is a good looking two-way end. Tony Damiani (6-3, 240), Rob Kingman (6-1, 225) and James Earles (6-5, 265) are the biggest Prospectors in camp.

Boys Ranch defenders, including all-state linebacker Mike Miller (47), swarm a Cactus Shadows ball carrier.

Ever So Close For The Ranch

CLASS 3A

You can't get any closer. For the second consecutive year, Arizona Boys Ranch, located south of Gilbert in Queen Creek, reached the 3A finals. And for the second straight year the Spartans (10-3) lost to Blue Ridge. But that's no disgrace. Everybody loses to the Yellowjackets. At least for the past three years. Last fall's classic was a heartbreaker. The Ranch lost on the last play of the game, beaten 22-20 on a field goal. Coach Richard Gray has since left and the school hired Gary Galante, a former assistant at Scottsdale Community College and Mesa Mountain View. Galante has a talented group to work with, starting with all-state linebacker Mike Miller (6-2, 215), an outstanding athlete who stars on the track team. One dozen starters return, including defensive backs Ed Williams (5-11, 175) and Khalid Meals (6-2, 180), miniback Richard Zuniga (5-8, 155), two-way tackle Reginald Miles (6-1, 225) and linebacker Lee Carrier (6-1, 200).

Quarterback Todd Harris (5-10, 160), halfback Daryl Thomas (5-8, 150), receiver Ivan Robinson (5-11, 150), guard Faolima Pule (5-10, 205), and junior tackle Billy Burton (6-3, 245) all started.

Cactus Shadows, located in Cave Creek, joins Boys Ranch to help form the new 3A Central Conference. Coach Gerry LaBelle's forces won back-to-back league championships, finishing 9-2 last fall. They beat Coolidge 33-7 in a rematch, avenging a season-opening defeat, but were knocked out by Boys Ranch one week later, 44-0. Few lettermen return. Juniors and sophomores dominate. Still, seniors like James Ferguson (6-2, 220) and Axel Trainer (6-3, 205) are key players. Ferguson could be the school's best lineman ever. Trainer, a two-way back, could be the best punter in the league. "He'll earn a college scholarship as a punter, he's that good," claims LaBelle, 73-45-2 at the school. Junior Joe Faraj (5-11, 170) gets the nod at guarterback. Eric Kraetz, Ryan Miller and Trainer form the Falcons' receiving corps.

Josh Petrucci, David Anspach and Nathan Snell are two-way linemen. "Depth will be a problem because of our light turnout of seniors," adds LaBelle.

For the third straight year, Fountain Hills reached the playoffs. Last year's trip (5-5) was short. State champ Blue Ridge blasted the Falcons, 62-0. Eleven underclassmen started, including Ryan Niesz (5-10, 160), Matt Butcher (6-1, 205) and Mike Pamiditis (5-11, 195), who went both ways. Josh Holexa, Chaz Larned, Ed Dawydiuk, Tony Wozniak, Lenny Young, Justin MacDonald, Brian Griffith, Alex Johnson, Marty McGarry and Dan Moloney are playoff tested. Johnson is an excellent kicker. At 6-3, 245-pounds, Moloney is the biggest Falcon in camp.

Since moving into the 3A West, Wickenburg has found the sailing rough. Only 14 lettermen return from a 3-6 club, but Jon Hill is optimistic. Still, the key player is a senior, two-way back Nate Brink (5-11, 150, 4.6). Last year he rushed for 510 yards, scored six TDs, completed 50% of his passes, recorded 28 solo tackles and 61 assists. Junior Calvin McArthur (6-2, 215) starts at center. Young Dennis Neely (6-0, 175) gets the nod at quarterback. Linebackers Eddie Dickinson (6-0, 180) and Sal Formica (6-0, 180) have two years to improve their skills.

At Dysart, the Demons biggest demon is the voters, who failed a recent bond issue. Funding athletics has become a problem. It reflects on the field. Coach Phill Wooley resigned. Only 11 players return. But four key seniors are back, including safety Andy Ramirez (6-0, 150), who intercepted a school record 10 passes. Fullback Kory Hunt (6-3, 235), along with linemen Chris Garcia (6-4, 205) and Pete Renteria (6-5, 230) form a strong nucleus. Hunt, in only six games, rushed for 782 yards.

CLASS 2A

The newly formed 2A Metro looks like the strongest region in the state. Defending champ Phoenix Christian, with several key players returning, shoots for a repeat. They just might get it. Coach Keith Brown, 45-9-0 (.833) in four years at the private school, beat Tempe Valley Christian 28-6 in the 2A finals. His 13-0 squad lost heavily to graduation, but five key players return. All-state kicker Josh Lane (6-0, 195) is a real weapon. Last year he was 58/58 on extra points, 6/9 on field goals. A guard/linebacker, he never leaves the field. Running back Andrew Ward (5-10, 170) managed 608 yards rushing, 188 receiving. Linebacker Aaron Huisman (6-3, 215) recorded 21 sacks! 'Backer Camron Hulbert (5-10, 215) logged eight. All-state center Anthony Stannard (6-4, 250) is a great blocker. Junior Mark Ortman (6-0, 190) gets the nod at quarterback. Phillip Warbington (6-2, 195) starts at tight end. Just a sophomore, tackle Austin Fletcher (6-2, 240) is the second biggest Cougar on campus. "It was a dream season," claims Brown. "We couldn't be prouder of the kids and the hard work they put in.

Waiting in the wings to knock off the champs is Seton Catholic, coached by Joe Timpani. His 7-3 Sentinels were one play from the final four, losing 31-24 to Thatcher in the quarterfinals. Twentyfour players return - most in the region - including two-year quarterback B.R. Koehneman (6-0, 170), one of the state's best. A good athlete, Koehneman also plays safety. Fullback Raja Audi (5-10, 180), a real workhorse, averaged 6.2 yards per carry. Tailback Mike Ballinger (6-0, 180) averaged 7.6 yards, with backto-back 250-yard games. Center B.J. Young (6-1, 195) lines up at defensive end. In fact, all of Seton's key players go both ways, including tackle Jesse McDonald, a 6-1, 240-pound junior.

Valley Christian, coached by Bernon Benson, advanced to the 2A finals, only to fall to powerful Phoenix. The former Tempe school moves to its new Chandler campus, but don't expect much change. The Trojans look tough again. Although 13 starters departed, several key players return. The kicking game, with Travis Schugg in the lineup, is sound. The 5-11, 185-pound senior also plays guard and linebacker. Bill Arterberry (6-1, 210) is the Trojans' center. He also plays defensive tackle. Safety Mike Garrett (5-9, 150), a 13-6 pole vaulter, starts at quarterback. On defense he intercepted seven passes. Gregg Hogeness (6-0, 180) is an experienced two-way tackle. Last year he blocked two punts. Guards Matt Jones (6-0, 155), Gabe Lieber (5-11, 150) and Andy Warren (5-9, 180) join Hogeness in the trenches. Defensive backs Ryan McMahan (6-0, 140) and Marshall Tague (5-10, 140) were members of the school's state championship track team. Tague, just a junior, ran 400 meters in 50.2 seconds. Benson, the Trojans' popular mentor, is 180-133-6 coaching football.

A young, inexperienced team resulted in a 2-7 season at Bourgade Catholic, where the Eagles played 15 sophomores and a freshman. It showed. "We basically played a varsity schedule with JV players," said head coach Gary Thompson. The best athlete starts at quarterback, so that will help. Senior Marcos Herrera (5-9, 170), with 4.7 speed, also plays in the secondary. Junior Eli Milstead (5-9, 174) is a two-way back. Tackles Carlos Dominguez (5-11, 273) and Andrew May (6-4, 282), another junior, will start. That lone freshman who played last year was 6-0, 184-pound lineman Paul Jajou.

Last year, Northwest Community Christian beat Scottsdale Christian 48-6 in the state 8-man finals. This year both schools move up to the stronger, more competitive 2A Metro Region. Graduation was kinder to the Crusaders, which return four all-state players, including junior QB Jake Wright (5-10, 170), MVP in the state finals. Split receiver Philip Hilliker (6-1, 165), cornerback Mike Harper (5-6, 146), deep back Jon Thompson (6-0, 166) and linebacker Ryan Kittle (6-4, 210) face 11-man ball with 16 classmates who lost only once in 11 games. Twoway back Nathan Tucker (5-9, 149) played as a freshman.

At Scottsdale Christian Academy, the Eagles crashed into NWCC, finishing 7-3 on the season. Three all-state candidates return, with two-way tackle B.J. Richardson (6-3, 190) an important cloq if SCA is to be competitive. Running back Jeremy Chantry (6-0, 160) and linebacker Josh Glennie (5-11, 190), both juniors, are key skill players. Each go both ways. Senior Mitch Stravitz (6-0, 162) gets the nod at guarterback, with sophomore Brett Harper (5-10, 142) waiting in the wings. Still, underclassmen will play important roles, with young linemen like Ryan Whitcomb (6-1, 207), Aaron Hubbard (6-4, 210) and Justin Whittenton (5-11, 200) the biggest of the lot.

Gila Bend started fast but finished slow. "We peaked too early," claimed Terry Nodlinski, whose club finished 6-4 in the 2A West. Pima eliminated the Gila Monsters in the playoff's first round. Junior Eddie Leon (5-9, 170), an all-region pick, plays running back or wide receiver. Another junior, Dallas Jacobson (6-3, 175), starts at quarterback. Senior Brian Birchfield (5-11, 165) joins them in the backfield. All three star on defense, too. Luis Ochoa (5-10, 190) is the club's center; Ryan Mendoza (6-0, 170) its tight end. Raul Garcia (6-1, 185) is a two-way tackle.

Young Maricopa took its lumps, but should improve, with seven starters back.

John Heun (6-1, 220), a two-way tackle, is the Rams' key senior. His younger brother, sophomore K.C. Heun, starts at quarterback and plays in the secondary. Junior Jerry Smith (5-11, 205) plays guard and defensive end. Junior Tim Campbell (5-10, 160) doubles at end and linebacker. Sophomores Mike Wagner and Tommy May, two wide receivers, also roam the secondary. The Rams suffered a blow when young Rick Gardner, a promising two-way back, decided to concentrate on basketball.

Just like Maricopa, Queen Creek was winless in eight games. But seven of those teams went to the playoffs. Two key seniors, linebacker Evan Cluff (5-11, 190) and halfback Jose Fernandez (5-10, 155) have to carry the load. Center Andy Pace (5-11, 190) and tackle Tim Jones (5-9, 235), both juniors, bolster the line. "It was a very tough year," said second-year coach Duane Madsen. "But today we are light years ahead of where we were last year."

CLASS 1A

Unfortunately for fans of 8-man football, the ranks have become more and more depleted. Last year's state finalists, Northwest Community Christian and Scottsdale Christian, experienced enrollment increases and moved up to 2A competition. Today, only one Phoenix area school plays 8-man ball.

At Arizona Lutheran, coach Doug Meyer needs to hire a full-time bus driver. The Coyotes, state champs in 1992, face a brutal traveling schedule, with games in the White Mountains, at Clifton and St. David. At least they play Patagonia in Phoenix. The Coyotes won the 1A Central crown with a 30-26 victory over Scottsdale Christian. But in the process they lost three starters. "We lost some speed, but are switching to a more balanced offense," says Doug Meyer. "Our quarterback can throw the ball well." That would be junior John Halvarson (6-1, 180), who also plays defensive end. Senior Colter Whillock (6-0, 205) holds down the other end position. In fact, most starting positions will be manned by seniors: Fullback Tom Reynolds (5-11, 185), guard Aaron Gunn (5-11, 170), receiver Joe Bands (5-11, 175), defensive end Ryan Leek (5-10, 170) and safety Jeremy Dittrich (5-9, 150). The Coyotes, which once competed in the 2A ranks, scrimmage always tough Orme School in August.

Quarterback Danny White (11) hands the ball to Woody Green during Arizona State's win over Pitt in the 1973 Fiesta Bowl. At right, father Wilford "Whizzer" White (33) is mugged by Miami of Ohio players in the 1950 Salad Bowl.

White's Family Legacy Grows

By Bob Snider

Danny White, perhaps the most decorated of the 129 players who played for Frank Kush at Arizona State and played professionally, is enjoying his own success as a coach.

Today, White is the head coach and general manager of the Arizona Rattlers of the Arena Football League. In 1994, White led the Rattlers to the Arena championship, the first world title for an Arizona professional team.

The former Mesa Westwood, ASU and Dallas Cowboy quarterback will soon join his former college coach, Frank Kush, in the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame, making him the first former Sun Devil player to be honored.

White credits his former mentors -Kush and Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys - for helping him develop leadership and savvy. "More than anything else, Frank Kush taught me the value of the coaching position and what you're capable of doing as a coach," White says. "He taught me about pushing players to their potential and beyond.

"We saw that with the Rattlers, winning a championship with guys who weren't the most talented in the league. Frank did that with us at ASU. He took guys who were too small or too slow to play major college football and we went 32-4 and won three Fiesta Bowls."

White was especially pleased with

"Right now I enjoy coaching Arena football. It's a great product, and I'm the head coach and general manager. I call the shots."

Kush's recent selection into the College Hall of Fame. "Just knowing what he did for the ASU program, the Western Athletic Conference, the number of players he put into the pros and the lives he changed truly took care of some unfinished business."

White said Landry's winning Dallas teams of the late '70s were also made up of overachievers. "I played with some Cowboy teams that had players who, on strength and speed, had no right to play in the NFL. Guys like Leroy Jordan, Drew Pearson, Cliff Harris and Charlie Waters. The whole team was made up of guys like that.

"Landry taught me there's a right way and a wrong way to do everything. The right way will always pay dividends, although it may take awhile. But the right mindset will eventually make a difference in winning and losing. The way you treat players is more important that the results themselves."

At Dallas, White enjoyed the highest "Danny was a creative and highly productive player. He made things happen. He had great rapport with his teammates and had their unqualified respect."

and lowest moments as an NFL quarterback. As the player who followed Roger Staubach, he often faced criticism from Cowboys fans. But he also erased many of Staubach's records. White still holds Cowboy career marks for completions and touchdown passes. When Dallas selected its 25th Anniversary Team, White was the punter.

At Arizona State, White-led Sun Devil teams dominated the up-and-coming Western Athletic Conference and set the stage for the school's move into the Pac-10. Recruited originally as a baseball player, hereditary may partly account for his athletic success.

Danny's father Wilford was an All-America high school back at Mesa High, an outstanding basketball player, and a state champion sprinter and long jumper. At Arizona State "Whizzer" earned All-America honors again, notched 16 different 100-yard rushing games, and is still listed 40 times in the ASU record book - 45 years later. He also played professionally, with the Chicago Bears.

Danny may have been the best quarterback ever to play in talent-rich Mesa. In 1969, the slick Westwood signal caller passed for 1,365 yards for the near-perfect Warriors (9-1), considered by many the best team in Arizona. The Dave Gates-coached club averaged 37.6 points, most ever by a Mesa school. They beat one team, Yuma Kofa, 100-6. White also played safety, and was selected MVP of the 1970 North-South all-star game in Flagstaff. A basketball-baseball-track star, he also broke the Westwood school record in the long jump, and earned 11 varsity letters before graduating.

"Danny was a creative and highly productive player," said Kush recently. "He made things happen. He had great rapport with his teammates and had their unqualified respect. I have had the privilege of coaching some great athletes, in college and the pros. Danny has always been extra special in my mind, as an exceptional athlete and a super person."

Danny set more than 30 offensive records at ASU, including most career TD passes (64) and yards passing (6,717). He was named first team All-America by the Football Writers and two other associations after the 1973 season, and finished ninth in the Heisman Trophy voting. He might have finished higher had he not shared the spotlight with teammate Woody Green, a running back who finished eighth. Upon graduation, White held seven NCAA passing and total offense records.

In 1971, Sports Illustrated rated White the second most productive college quarterback of all-time, behind former Brigham Young star Steve Young.

White's college career never produced the national championships he enjoyed with the Cowboys or the Rattlers. That's partly because ASU, even with four consecutive WAC titles, could never impress national pollsters enough. The Sun Devils' highest ranking during Whites' three-year run (1971-73) was No. 6.

"We won everything we could win. We had great players, but I don't think anyone wanted to play us in a major bowl," he noted.

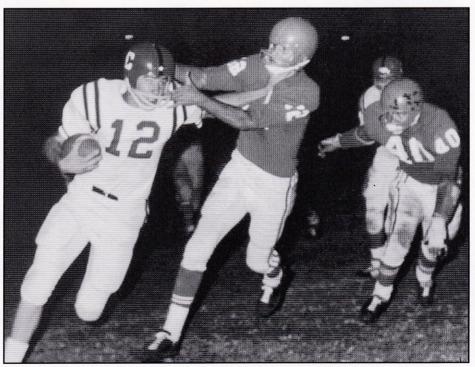

But as a three-year starter, White's ASU teams played in three Fiesta Bowls, beating Florida State 45-38, Missouri 49-35, and Pittsburgh 28-7, in that order. Freshman didn't play varsity football at the time. In 1970, his first year on the college campus, the Sun Devils beat North Carolina 48-26 in the Peach Bowl.

But college football, White says, will always secure a special place in his heart. "The whole mentality was different from the pro game. As an amateur player, the fans and everyone involved had more respect for you. You were perceived as a hero, whereas in the pro ranks you were paid a lot of money to do it.

"I really enjoyed the atmosphere. We weren't being paid anything to do what we were doing, and guys played more for the love of the game than anything else. To see guys come together and pull together and win championships for just the love of playing was a great experience."

White's attitude about football and his success today is no surprise to his old college coach. "Danny was a team player in every sense of the term," adds Kush. "He developed great interpersonal relationships and always had a positive outlook. He was a true leader and the epitome of what people expect of an outstanding athlete."

"I love living in the Phoenix area," says White, married 25 years and the father of four. "I don't want to get stuck in a profession where nine out of 10 people are unemployed, and you have to hunt jobs all over the country. Right now I enjoy coaching Arena football. It's a great product, and I'm the head coach and general manager. I call the shots. And it's only a full-time job about five months of the year."

In a 1968 game at Westwood, White (right), as a defensive back, chases down Scottsdale Coronado quarterback Jim Brady.

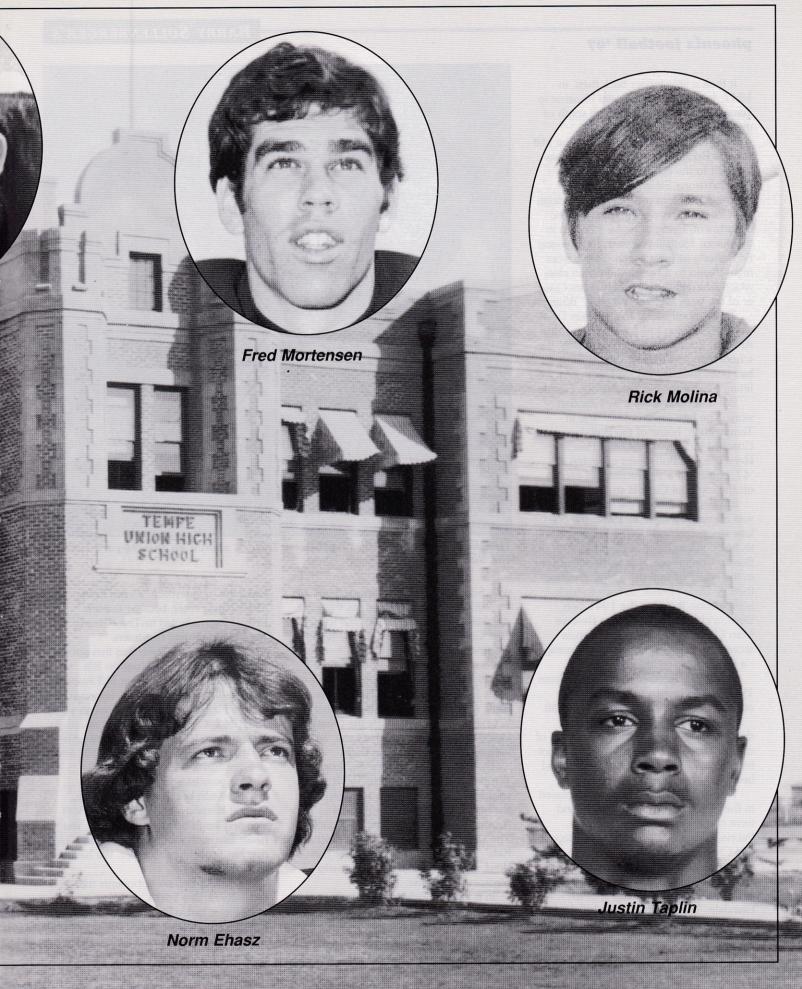

TEMPE UNION FAITY Years of Ballaco Football Karl Kie

A lot has happened in Tempe since that Hascall Henshaw-coached Buffalo squad went undefeated 50 years ago. The school burned down. The country, with Tempe High grads on all ironis, has fought several wars. The local college, Arizona State University, has become the second largest west of the Mississippi. And the Blue & White Buffs went undefeated again.

It took a little longer back then, in 1947, to get from downtown Phoenix to Tempe. That little college town south of the Salt River.

The school had recently gone through another name change, and the athletic department, trying to revive its down-in-the-dumps football program, hired young Ed Doherty as head coach. Spirits were high, thanks to a banner freshmen class which included the state high school player of the year, Wilford "Whizzer" White.

Three months later the '47 Sun Devils were 4-7, having lost again to bitter rival Arizona, 26-13. Earlier in the spring, the school's original mascot - the Bulldog - had been switched to Sun Devils, a more fitting mascot for the hot Arizona climate.

But one block away it was another story. The best team in town was at Tempe High, home of the Buffaloes. Coached by former ASU star Hascall Henshaw, the Buffs went unbeaten in '47, compiling a 9-0 record and carting off the mythical Class B state crown.

It wasn't as though the local college was always in a funk. In 1931, the college team, coached by Ted Shipley, won its first conference championship. The old Border Conference, that is. Excellent play in the late '30s sent the 'Dogs, coached then by Dixie Howell, to back-to-back bowl games. It was at the 1941 Sun Bowl, a close loss to Western Reserve from Cleveland, Ohio, that Henshaw scored on a 94-yard run from scrimmage - a bowl record to this day.

World War II halted the program from 1943-45, as various team members enlisted to fight. In 1946 it got a facelift.

But at Tempe High, located in the shadows of the college, one block west of campus, it was a different story. The football program was on solid ground. It had been for years.

Teams coached by Leo Faunce played in the "Little Seven" Conference, and were competitive. Tempe, Glendale, Peoria, Gilbert, Casa Grande, Buckeye and Chandler formed the league. In 1935 they were near-perfect. Coach Ben "King" Cole guided the Buffs through an 8-1 season and a runnerup spot to Glendale. The mighty Cardinals, which out gained Tempe 22 first downs to one, crushed the Buffs, 58-8.

Two years later, the Colemen were off and running. In a close opening day game with Scottsdale, Johnny Ellingson rushed for 200 yards on 20 carries, as the Buffs skunked the Beavers, 14-0. One week later Cole's crew shutout Miami, 12-0 in the first night game in Tempe's history. Sophomore Bobby James, the school's first high-profile back, returned a punt 45 yards to beat Yuma, 6-0. The season came to a climax with a 12-0 shutout of Chandler, landing the Buffs the Class B Valley championship. Only Globe, a non-league opponent, beat the Buffs.

Following the 1937 season, four Tempe players, Ray Green, Ted Kortsen, Ellingson and James were members of the first all-star squad to represent Arizona in an intersectional bowl game. The Chicago All-Stars beat the "Cactus Kids" 9-6 in the first Valley of the Sun Bowl, played at historic Montgomery Stadium in Phoenix.

In a fitting conclusion to a brilliant career, James finished off the 1939 campaign with a 92-yard kickoff return against Glendale. In that contest, won by the Buffaloes, THS was slapped with six 15-yard infractions for mugging the Cardinals' quarterback. James Potter, a 195-pound center, became the first Buffalo ever selected to The Arizona Republic's all-state first-team.

By this time the town had two good football teams, the Bulldogs on 8th Street, and the Buffaloes on Mill Ave. But as Arizona State's fortunates improved, Tempe High's went south. Between 1940 and 1943, Cole-coached teams won only eight games. When Henshaw arrived in 1946, the Buffs fared no better. His first club finished 2-5-2.

One year later they were perfect.

"They win because they're happy," insisted Henshaw in 1947. "These kids sing and laugh before every game. You never saw such morale. It's real team play that has brought us together. We have no individual stars."

Try telling Buffalo opponents that quarterback Ben Elkins, end Roy Coppinger, tackle Bob Fram or fullback Bobby Wood weren't stars. All four landed spots on The Arizona Times all-state squad, picked by popular sports editor Bill Nixon.

Prior to a season-ending clash with Coolidge, Tempe had an added incentive. This game was for Jimmy Sparks, who didn't live to see his teammates roll through their best season ever. Jimmy, injured in a scrimmage, died on the day the Coolidge game was originally scheduled. When it was rearranged for the end of the season, Tempe officials made it a benefit game, in tribute to Jimmy and his family.

Before 3,000 fans at old Goodwin Stadium, on Arizona State's campus, the Buffs rolled, 25-6. Elkins' last quarter touchdown pass to Coppinger ended a perfect season.

The 30-year-old Henshaw refused to take all the credit. Most of it, he claimed, went to assistant Bill Boyle, one of Arizona State's all-time greatest linemen. Like Henshaw, Boyle would later finish his career in administrative work in the Tempe District. But not before replacing Henshaw in 1951.

Boyle-coached teams were also competitive. His 7-1-1 squad in '51 lost only to Coolidge, 19-0. During a 54-7 win over Florence in '52, the Buffs' ground out 644 yards total offense. Danny Arredondo scored four touchdowns, including a 98-yard run from scrimmage.

By then the school board had made the decision to relocate the school south of town on Broadway, across the street from the old Tempe Airpark. It was after the move that the old two-story brick school burned, and Tempe lost one of its oldest and most recognizable landmarks.

After the Korean War, the Buffalo football fortunates were passed to another former A-State player, John Zucco. The former guard, a member of two Salad Bowl teams, strung together the best three-year run in Tempe history. His '54 Buffs recorded six shutouts and gave up just 36 points. They closed out the campaign with a 6-0 "blood bath" with Chandler, won on a touchdown pass from Clem Acedo to Karl Kiefer. A 20-6 loss to Glendale spoiled a near-perfect season.

Shutouts were the rule under Zucco. Six were recorded again, in 1955. Kenny Rivers opened the season with a 97-yard sprint against Scottsdale. Ray Aguilar followed with a 70-yard pass interception and THS won their opener, 39-0. Only Winslow, Sunnyslope and league champ Glendale scored on the Buffs. Kiefer, a rangy 6-1, 165-pound senior, was a first team all-state pick.

"Those were good times, and we played on good teams," says Kiefer, currently the head coach at Mountain Pointe. "Looking back, everybody ran a similar offense and we played mostly town teams. We were the only (high) school in town. We were in the new buildings then. The old school burned after we moved."

To this date, few people have had the impact on Tempe football as Kiefer. He played first at Tempe High, and was later a team captain at ASU. In college he played under two coaches who are today in the College Football Hall of Fame, Dan Devine and Frank Kush.

Between 1965 and 1990, Kiefer won 218 games, lost 73 and tied three as the head coach at the city's newest school, McClintock. Ironically, he was hired by Bill Boyle. After five seasons at The Pointe, Kiefer's 256-94-3 overall mark is the best in Arizona history.

In 1956, under Zucco, the Buffs were perfect. Tackle James Shumway, end Don Jeisy, guard Dave Ragsdale and halfback Larry Royse led the Buffs through a 10-0 campaign. Offensively, this Tempe team was the school's best. Zucco was the state coach of the year.

Royse was a kick returner deluxe. His 70-yard punt return helped beat Phoenix St. Mary's, and his 84-yard kick return broke Flagstaff's back. He started a 33-0 rout of Sunnyslope with a 96-yard punt return. Jeisy, an all-state end, later became a Border Conference pole vault champ at Arizona State.

By 1959, major changes were made by the state's governing body, the Arizona Interscholastic Association. Most significant: football playoffs.

By then, the Blue & White was coached by Eddie Mitchell, another former ASU star out of Phoenix North High. It didn't take Tempe long to make its mark. In Mitchell's second season, the Buffs were playoff bound, playing in the state's largest conference, Class AA.

The key player was a junior, halfback Everett "Moose" Rollins, along with quarterback John Vincent. The Buffs finished 8-3 after falling to eventual state champ Pueblo, 20-13, in the state semifinals in Tucson.

Mitchell's tenure lasted just four season. Sticking with former A-State players, the school kept that pipeline open and hired Paul Widmer and Allen Benedict, former Pennsylvania transplants, to guide the THS football fortunates. When Widmer left to take the head job at Mesa Community College, Benedict moved up. It was Benedict who not only coached the school's best ever quarterback, but played in one of the best state final games ever.

In 1972, when ASU signed Tempe quarterback Fred Mortensen, Sun Devil head coach Frank Kush told the media, "Fred is the best high school quarterback we've signed since I've been here."

That's saying a lot. But Mortensen, the state player of the year, was the whole package. In 1970 Tempe was in the hunt for a playoff spot. But a heart-breaking loss to Scottsdale Saguaro, played at old Scottsdale Beaver Stadium, ended the season early.

In the fall of 1971 it was a different story. With an arsenal of weapons, including wide receivers Rick Molina and Rex Shumway, Tempe lit it up. Without Fred, who was hurt on the last play of the game against rival McClintock, Tempe dropped an October contest to Maryvale. During the McClintock contest, a 19-14 Tempe win, the announced crowd of 15,000 at Sun Devil Stadium was the largest to ever watch THS play.

Two weeks later Mortensen was 10 for 16 for 349 yards and five scores during a 42-14 rout of Mesa. Shumway caught scoring strikes covering 41 and 47 yards against the porous Jackrabbit secondary. Molina scored from 78 and 40 yards.

In the first round of the playoffs, a rematch with McClintock, 11,000 fans at "Good luck Sun Devils, Cardinals, Rattlers and All local high schools in 1997!" ASU watched Fred hit 14 of 23 passes for 244 yards in a 20-0 shutout. One week later, before 15,000 on the same turf, Tempe knocked out Brophy Prep, 21-12. It set the stage for the finals against mighty Tucson High, at the University of Arizona.

Before 15,000 fans in Tucson, in a classic error-free game, the top-ranked Badgers handed Tempe a 20-14 defeat. Arguably it was one of the best "large school" title games in Arizona history. Tucson quarterback Frank Castro, who also played cornerback, was nine of 14 for 188 yards and two touchdowns. Mortensen went 15 for 33 for 229 yards, two scores and three interceptions.

Tempe struck early; Tucson late. Although Tucson halfback Kelly Langford (who was blind in one eye) swept left end for a first period score, Tempe linebacker Mike Longman blocked the extra point. Mortensen hit halfback Richard Aguayo for 22 yards and a second period touchdown to take a 7-6 lead at the half.

Throughout the second half, Tempe controlled field position, thanks to booming punts (47, 60 & 57) by Mortensen. But after his 57-yard punt to the end zone, Castro threw an 80-yard strike to Jinx Johnson, who tight-roped down the sidelines to score.

Then Fred struck again, this time hitting Rick Molina from 50 yards out. Molina was Mortensen's favorite receiver, hauling in seven receptions for 143 yards. It looked like a Tempe victory, even though the Badgers were able to move to the Tempe 39 with two minutes left. But on third-and-11, with only one timeout remaining, Castro found Lonnie Williams open at the goal line for the winning score.

"There were more tears flowing than shower water in the Buffalo dressing room," said Phoenix Gazette sports writer Sam Payne. "But Tempe has no reason to be ashamed of losing such a close game to a much bigger and stronger foe."

"In all my years of coaching, that Tempe club was one of the finest coached teams we ever faced," winning coach Ollie Mayfield later said.

It was the last high school game coached by Benedict, who turned the reins over to another former Sun Devil, Jim Lambeth, and joined Paul Widmer's staff at Mesa Community. In fact, for nearly half-a-century, every head coach at Tempe High, starting with Ben Cole in 1935, through Jim Murphy's tenure, played college football at ASU.

As the city grew and new high schools were built, enrollment boundaries decreased. So did the school's strength on the football field. Consistency has never been a strength of the Buffalo football system, but outstanding individual stars have. Jim Denton, David Kush, Norm Ehasz, Jimmy Williams, Joe Campbell, Jim Warne, Dan-iel Taplin, Jerome Moss and Darnell Autry are just several of many outstanding individuals to wear the Blue & White.

In 1989 Tempe, coached by Murphy, and rival McClintock were almost perfect. Late in the season, Karl Kiefer's Chargers looked like one of the best teams in the country. But in September, Kiefer's forces dropped a 25-24 thriller to Tempe. The game made history. Never before had state champions from different enrollment classes met in the same year. Tempe won in spite of the losers Brian Drew, who returned the opening kickoff 94 yards. Actually, McClintock returned two kickoffs for scores, and cashed in on a fumble for another. Then the Chargers, error free for three quarters, fell apart. Tempe's Jeff McDonald kicked two field goals and the game's only extra point. Three months later, McClintock blitzed Mesa Westwood, 42-14 in the 5A finals. Earlier, Tempe tied Agua Fria 10-10 in the 4A clash.

"Tempe's win over McClintock that year was the best high school game played in this side of town in years," claimed Phoenix Gazette writer Skip Bryant, who covered the preps for more than 40 years.

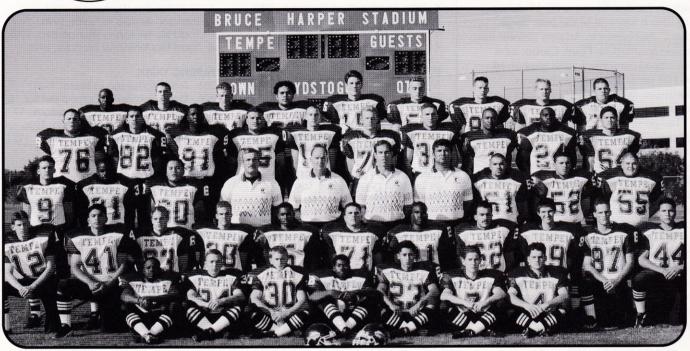

Today, the Buffaloes continue their athletic endeavors in Class 4A competition. Changing neighborhoods, open school boundaries and other factors have affected the entire district. Good and bad. But 1996 belonged to the Buffs.

With quarterback Todd Mortensen, Fred's talented young son, wide receiver Justin Taplin and fullback Mike Washington leading the way, Tim McBurney's forces logged an undefeated, thrill-a-minute campaign, climaxed with a 20-17 overtime victory against Ironwood of Glendale, in the 4A finals, played at Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe.

Home of the Buffaloes for more than 50 years.

'96 Super All-State Team Big, Fast

By JEFF KRIDER

The beat goes on. It was another banner year for schoolboy football in the Grand Canyon State.

Talent-wise, it just gets better.

An All-American receiver from Tempe, a record-breaking running back from Peoria, and the best all-around player in 5A football highlighted another outstanding year.

Justin Taplin, the player of the year, caught 75 passes for 1,295 yards and 16 touchdowns for 4A state champ Tempe. Coached by Tim McBurney, the Buffaloes nipped Glendale Ironwood 20-17 in overtime at the state finals at Sun Devil Stadium. Taplin's teammate, quarterback Todd Mortensen, a late BYU signee, passed for a school record 2,442 yards and 32 touchdowns. He connected with Taplin for the winning score in the overtime clash with Ironwood.

Phoenix Carl Hayden's Ty-Juan Swasey, a member of the Falcon's state championship basketball squad, averaged 28.8 yards per catch, best in the school's 38-year-history. Swasey plans to attend Scottsdale Community College.

At Peoria, tailback Kyran Jones rushed for 2,094 yards and scored 32 touchdowns - a 4A state record for a junior. Jones (see cover) bacame the first underclassman since Tucson Sunnyside's Fred Sims (Oklahoma) to win the "Whizzer White Award," given annually to the state's best running back. In Bullhead City, big Moses Love (6-3, 255) rushed for 2,089 yards and scored 27 touchdowns for the 5-5 Thunderbirds. Word has it that Arizona Western plans to play him at defensive end.

At South Mountain, Rashad Bauman, the state's 5A scoring champion, was an easy pick as the 5A Player of the Year.

At South Mountain, two-way back Rashad Bauman, the state's 5A scoring champion, was an easy pick as the 5A Player of the Year. The University of Oregon signee scored touchdowns from everywhere on the field: 18 by rushing, five receiving, two on punt returns, two pass interceptions and one fumble return. He won the "Tyrone Byrd Award," given annually to the state's best defensive back, by a landslide.

Byrd was a three-sport star at Chandler High between 1985-87, and a star defensive back at the University of Nebraska. He was projected as a high NFL draft pick, but his career was halted by an automobile accident in 1993.

Tucson Amphi halfback Antrel Bates (no relation to Marion, Michael or Mario) rushed for 1,812 yards, most ever by a Tucson junior, while Sabino safety Aaron Smith led his city with 14 interceptions, returning six for touchdowns. He picked off five, returning three for scores, in a playoff win over Tucson Desert View.

For the first time in 34 years, two linemen shared honors in the trenches. Tucson's Ralph Zarate and Brophy Prep's Bryan Kula, both preseason-prep All-Americans, tied for the "Brian Murray Award," given to the state's premier interior lineman.

The award is named after the late Salpointe High grad, a three-year starter at the University of Arizona - also projected as a high NFL pick - who was killed in a fall at Redington Pass. In 1962, tackles Gary Swift (Oregon State) and Bob Bertelsen (Kansas) of nationally ranked Scottsdale Arcadia won the award, the last such time it was shared.

Kingman's Trevor Mote, the Northern Arizona Player of the Year, passed for 984 yards, rushed for 1,032, scored 24 touchdowns, kicked eight field goals and 29 extra points, returned five kickoffs for touchdowns and intercepted six passes. Possibly the state's best allaround athlete, Mote also stared on the Bulldogs' basketball team, and won all-state honors in baseball at shortstop.

Lakeside Blue Ridge, coached by Paul Moro, has won three consecutive 3A championships and 39 games in a row, moving close to the state's unbeaten slate of 43. In 11 years with the Yellowjackets, Moro has won six state championships and 80% of his games. In the 3A finals, Blue Ridge overcame Tylon Law's fourth quarter heroics to nip the Boys Ranch 22-20 on a last second field goal.

In the Class 5A finals, Mesa Mountain View, led by second-year coach Bernie Buskin, stuffed Brophy Prep 17-3, also at Sun Devil Stadium. Brophy had scored a school record 504 points before the meeting. But the Broncos, who dropped an earlier game to Mountain View in September, met the same fate in the finals. For the winning Toros, kicker Jeremy Kelley was terrific, pinning

In the field goal department, Kelley booted a state record five against Tempe Marcos de Niza, and finished with 30 in his three-year career, second on the all-time state list.

In Class 2A, Keith Brown's high scoring Cougars at Phoenix Christian rolled over 13 opponents. Sort of. They won from Baboquivari by forfeit, when the Warriors dropped the sport. While winning it all, PC played two opponents twice: Superior, which they beat 28-6 and 14-13, and Tempe Valley Christian, 25-0 and 28-6 victories. The later came in the 2A title game.

In Class 1A, Northwest Community Christian went out with a bang, routing Scottsdale Christian 48-6 in the last 8-man game played by the two schools. Next up is 2A competition. Both school's have witnessed an enrollment jump. Sophomore quarterback Jake Wright tied a 1A title game record by scoring five touchdowns.

Coaching-wise, Mountain Pointe's Karl Kiefer finished the '96 campaign with an 8-5 slate, extending his state leading mark to 256-94-3, one of the best in the country.

At Tucson Amphi, Vern Friedli's near-perfect Panthers finished 12-1, extending his career record to 237-90-2. If they stay in the profession, three additional coaches, Pat Farrell (St. Mary's), Bill Mitton (Trevor Bowne) and Bernon Benson (Valley Christian) should reach the magic 200-win plateau soon.

Team-wise, Mesa continues its climb to 600 wins. Coached by Bill McKane, the Jackrabbits finished 8-4 last year, giving the school 557 wins since 1920. Mesa is one of the few high schools in the western United States with 500-plus wins in football and 1,000-plus in basketball.

Bates, McDaniel '96 All-Pro Picks

By BARRY SOLLENBERGER

According to Census Bureau estimates, Arizona's population growth dropped off last year. But it still climbed enough to be the second fastest growing state in the country.

Arizona added 123,000 new residents last year, hiking the state's population closer to five-million. The 2.9 percent increase was second only to Nevada's 4.5.

By the turn of the century, for the first time ever, Arizona could have 200 high schools. This growth is reflected in it's sports programs. As more and more athletes compete, more and more reach the pro ranks.

But good high school football is nothing new to the Grand Canyon State. Last year, only two states west of the Mississippi River, Texas and California, had more former schoolboy stars on NFL rosters than Arizona.

Football and track, a happy marriage at most schools, has always been Arizona's premier sports. It was no surprise that one of Arizona's all-time greatest high school stars, Tucson's Michael Bates, landed a spot on the 1996 Associated Press All-Pro team, as the league's premier kick returner. Joining Bates was another former schoolboy star from Arizona, Randall McDaniel, a guard for the Minnesota Vikings. Bates is a receiver for the Carolina Panthers.

There have been many two-sport stars, but none recently with the speed of Michael Bates, whose brother Mario plays for the New Orleans Saints.

"The older Bates (Michael) was without a doubt the best two-sport star from Arizona since Tucson High's legendary Joe Batiste," claims Tempe sports writer Skip Bryant, who has covered the preps for 40 years.

"Bates was without a doubt the best twosport star from Arizona since Tucson High's legendary Joe Batiste." There are similarities. Batiste, a member of the United State's mythical 1940 Olympic team, was an all-state back in football and a world class high hurdler.

At Tucson Amphitheater, between 1985-88, Bates scored 53 touchdowns, 318 points and rushed for 3,803 yards. In track & field, the future Olympian was a schoolboy phenom. In 1987, he set national age group records for sophomores with times of 10.34 for 100 meters, 20.90 at 200 meters and 13.84 for the 110 meter high hurdles.

His 20.68 time at 200 meters in 1988, his junior year, is today the second fastest in state history, behind another Arizona Olympian, South Mountain's Dwayne Evans. Bates ran 100 meters in 10.39 that year, and zipped over the high hurdles in 13.70.

Sadly, because of a coaching conflict, Bates did not compete in high school track his senior year. He attended the University of Arizona, and after an average football career - but a terrific track career - landed in the National Football League with the Seattle Seahawks.

McDaniel, himself a multiple sports star at Agua Fria High in Avondale, has "The best thing that ever happened to him was they switched him to guard. That move made him a millionaire."

been one of the NFL's premier lineman for years. In high school he earned all-state honors as a tight end/defensive end, playing for head coach Pat Lavin. McDaniel starred in the 1983 Arizona North-South All-Star Game, catching three touchdown passes. In basketball, he once grabbed 31 rebounds in a single game, and threw the shot put and discus in track. Before graduating from college, McDaniel was a member of Arizona State's 1987 Rose Bowl team.

"When he started out at Arizona State, he was a tight end," says Lavin. "The best thing that ever happened to him was they switched him to guard. That move made him a millionaire."

Last year, 29 former Arizona schoolboy products dotted NFL rosters (see chart), down from 32 the previous year. This summer, with the addition of 10 new draft picks and free agents, the state creeps closer to 40, an amazing number for a region with less than five-million population.

Since the New York Giants picked Phoenix Union's Cecil Mulleneaux in 1932, over 200 Arizona high school products have played professional football in the United States (NFL) and Canada (CFL).

When it comes to athletic ability, St. Louis Ram defensive back Anthony Parker takes a back seat to nobody. The former Tempe McClintock football and baseball star, also a member of the Sun Devils' '87 Rose Bowl team, still stars in the secondary.

When scoring defensive touchdowns, the slowest player in the Rams' secondary is Deion Sanders' equal. Last year, Parker's 92-yard interception return during a 17-14 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars was his seventh career defensive score - four on interceptions and three on fumbles. That matches Sanders, the Dallas Cowboys high-profile back, for the lead among active players, and is only three shy of the NFL career mark set by former Houston all-pro Kenny Houston.

"Anthony Parker is the thief," said Todd Lyght, the Rams' other cornerback.

Mesa, Glendale Still Teams To Beat

By BART CONLEY

Like always, the annual Valley of the Sun Bowl, pitting the county's best junior college club against an out-of-state opponent, produced more fireworks than a July holiday.

In December, running back Anthony Dileso, the ACCAC Player of the Year, rushed for 175 yards, scored three touchdowns, returned a kickoff 46 yards and threw a touchdown pass, as host Glendale College (8-3) sprinted past Butler County, Kansas, 46-25.

It was head coach Jack Kersting's last game with the Gauchos. He then headed north, joining the staff at Northern Arizona University. It was Glendale's sixth state crown in seven years, and avenged a 26-24 loss to Kansas foe Garden City in the '95 contest.

The Grizzlies (7-4) managed 173 yards on the ground and 299 through the air, with the pitch-and-catch combination of quarterback Craig Strickland to Ricky Hall causing the most damage. Both earned JC All-America status.

Besides Dileso's heroics, Glendale back Jay Hinton, a University of Arizona signee out of Phoenix Maryvale, added 137 yards and one score on 14 carries. Dileso carried the ball 24 times as the Gaucho running game amassed 403 yards.

"They had a good, balanced offense," said Kersting, who will coach NAU's defensive backs and special teams. "We concentrated on stopping the run. That was a big part of their offense. Our goal line stand with 14 minutes left probably sealed it for us."

Glendale finished the season No. 8 in the final NJCAA poll. It was the 10th postseason appearance in 15 years for Butler, a Kansas power.

"The schools you play in Arizona are damn good," first year coach James Shibest told The Arizona Republic. Shibest was an assistant at Garden City in 1995. "I told my athletic director, if we had a choice, that's where I'd like to go play."

Besides Dileso, three additional Gauchos landed berths on the Western States Football League all-star squad: offensive lineman Marty Jones, defensive back Askia Stewart and Hinton, as a return specialist.

In the state JC ranks, every school but Arizona Western looks improved. Even though they broke 11 offensive records, it was a disappointing season at Mesa, according to head coach David Rice. "We were very young and it showed. Our kicking game lost three games for us, but recruiting solved that problem."

Price didn't have far to go to solve it, landing all-state kicker Jeremy Kelley, a key member of Mountain View's 5A state championship squad. Kelley kicked 15 field goals last year, 30 during his varsity career. He set a state record with five in one game against Tempe Marcos de Niza.

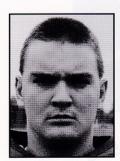

Altogether, Mesa returns seven offensive starters and six defensive starters. A "The schools you play in Arizona are damn good. I told my athletic director, if we had a choice, that's where I'd like to go play."

good recruiting class gives the Thunderbirds an important two deep look, and should improve last year's 4-6 finish. Two key all-league players return: defensive back Gavin Engle (6-3, 205) and defensive tackle Gilbert Aldana (6-0, 275). Speedy Gerald Green (5-9, 190), a much traveled running back, should start, along with tight end Randy Hakes (6-4, 240), a big-time prospect who has returned from a Mormon Mission. Giant tackle Ford Poston (6-8, 300), wideout William Lloyd (6-1, 180) and linebacker Mike Pekrul (6-3, 220) give Mesa three more major college prospects.

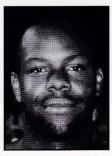

Besides Kelley, T'Bird newcomers who could be impact players include tight end Ricky Prigge (6-3, 215), tackle Chris Van Gorder (6-3, 295), defensive back Yohance Scott (6-1, 180), and wideouts Eric Moody (6-2, 175) and Chris Little (6-4, 175). All are former East Valley schoolboy products.

This fall seven former T'Birds will be playing for Pac-10 schools: defensive end Jayson Brown (UCLA) out of Scottsdale Saguaro, defensive end Bob McKane (Oregon State) from Mesa Westwood, tackle Tony Marshall (Oregon State) from Marcos de Niza, center Rusty James (Arizona) and tackle Ryan Turley (Arizona), both of Mesa Mountain View, tight end Ashley Burrows (Arizona) out of Chandler, and defensive back Aundrae Harris (California), a Phoenix Camelback product.

at Glendale, where the Gauchos hope to defend their state crown with 25 lettermen and a solid recruiting class. Grossner is no stranger to Gaucho football, returning to the school where he served as offensive coordinator.

"This will be my seventh year here, and I think we can compete for another state championship," warns the new coach. "But we have a tough early schedule. We'll have to grow up early."

Watch for major college programs to pick up linebacker Dane Sorenson (6-2, 235), tackle Mike Wilhelms (6-8, 330) and kicker Mike Johnson (6-0, 225), an all-conference pick. Speedy defensive backs Herb Craft (5-9, 165, 4.4) and Troy Sheets (6-3, 210, 4.5) are tough. Guard Miguel Regalado (6-2, 260) and receiver Jess Castillo (5-9, 175) should start.

Several key newcomers could make a big difference, starting with gifted quarter-back Mark Brooks (6-3, 205), a former Phoenix Greenway star; fullback James Mova (6-1, 205), who rushed for 1,885 yards and 31 touchdowns at Kingman; and tackle Marquise Muldrow (6-3, 305), two-time state shot put champ from Phoenix Maryvale. The quickest newcomer appears to be cornerback Carlos Harris (6-1, 175), a 4.4 cover guy, also from Maryvale.

If upstart Eastern Arizona learns to win the close games, watch out. The Gila Monsters, coached by Paul Tidwell, were competitive in every game, but still finished 4-6. "We're making progress," claims Tidwell. "But we still have a ways to go to build the program to where we have that winning tradition."

The line looks solid, with sophomores Ralph Frias (6-5, 315), Jon Mathis (6-3, 275), John Oddonetto (6-5, 283) and Sakalia Magalei (6-5, 235). Magalei, a redshirt freshman, starts at tight end.

Still, the marque player is free safety Isaac Banks (5-10, 175, 4.5), a second team all-Western State Football League pick. The former Tucson Sabino standout had four interceptions. In fact, the secondary is another EAJC strength, with safety Louison Paul (6-2, 215, 4.6) joining Banks to wreck havoc upon enemy receivers. Linebacker Orlando Huff (6-2, 225) backs up a solid front wall. The Gila Monsters signed 28 in-state players to football scholarships.

Phoenix College landed its strongest recruiting class in three years. They'll need it. John Allen's defense was much improved, but the Bears' offense finished last in the ACCAC. The school's lone win came against Scottsdale.

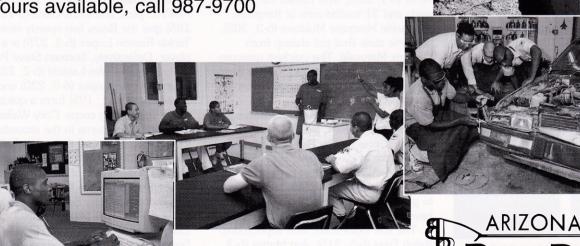

Still, quarterback is the big question. Whoever fills in will have a good running back for support, one of the best in the conference. Sophomore Steve Holmes (5-10, 185) runs 40 yards in 4.5 seconds. Wideouts Jason Carr (5-10, 185), an all-ACCAC pick, and Chris Gana (5-10, 185) give the Bears two speedy receivers. Tackle Ramon Lopez (6-3, 275) is a solid player. Defensively, linemen Steve Price (6-2, 230) and Wes Latecki (6-2, 235) return. Manuel Lopez (6-0, 230) and Steve Cota (5-11, 195) form a quick, tough linebacking corps. Cory Walker (5-10, 190, 4.5) returns in the secondary.

At Scottsdale, all three Artichokes named to the ACCAC all-star squad picked up diplomas: offensive lineman Shane Roberts, down lineman Tim Croft and linebacker Tony Becker. Croth also made the Western States Football League honor roll, including players from Snow, Dixie and Ricks College. He signed with the University of Utah.

The Pointe's Pennsylvania Trip Old News

The criticism surrounding the announcement that Tempe Mountain Pointe will open its season August 29 against Wilson High in West Lawn, Pa., has gone from comical to ridiculous. But such is the case today, where - in some school districts - athletics are considered the evil Darth Vadar of the high school curriculum.

Unknown to most critics, and, unfortunately many sports writers, there have been hundreds of games played by Phoenix metropolitan schools against teams from outside the Grand Canyon State.

Between 1916 and 1969, the state's "Big Five," Phoenix Union, Mesa, St. Mary's, Phoenix North and Tucson, played 258 games against teams from Nebraska, Texas, California, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado, Nevada and Mexico City, winning 60% of the time.

But when Mountain Pointe Principal Harold Slemmer, at the encouragement of head coach Karl Kiefer, arranges a home-and-away contest with his brother's school in Pa. (Slemmer's brother Gerald is the WHS head coach), you'd think the school system had lost its mind.

Forget the fact that hundreds of Arizona high school bands have marched across out-of-state soil, from Washington, D.C., to Miami, to Pasadena, and sometimes missed class doing so. "It's ridiculous to send a football team across the country to play a high school game," say critics. "Who's going to pay for this, the tax payers?"

Somebody actually asked that question.

Never mind the fact that the Pride's progressive booster club, which annually sells over $25,000 in advertising for its 116-page souvenir game program, has helped pick up the tab. Or that stops at historic Gettysburg are on the agenda. Or that Wilson High will return the favor next year.

In fact, as recent as 1995, one Arizona school, Tucson Sabino, traveled farther, when the Sabercats journeyed to Connecticut, and beat New Canaan, 28-21. Based on mileage, here are several of the more historic games played between Arizona schools on out-of-state soil:

In 1938, Port Arthur, Texas, one of the Lone Star State's all-time winningest programs, beat Mesa High 28-21, down by the Gulf. Three years later the Yellowjackets beat Mesa again, 13-6, also in Texas.

In 1949, St. Mary's hit the road, beating Mexico City 34-6 at the Olympic Stadium. Five years ago Sabino beat Waianae 31-12 in Hawaii, the same year national power Honolulu St. Louis beat Mesa Mountain View, 21-7. Last year Sabino beat Chillicothe, Ohio 49-12 in Ohio.

Today, horses train at Turf Paradise on better facilities and run on better tracks than many high school athletes in several of the school districts in Maricopa County. School districts which have scaled back athletic funding, dropped lower level programs, and often have head coaches who don't even teach on campus.

Tempe isn't one of them.
